WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk plans a new effort in New York next week to persuade the Soviet Union to conclude a treaty against spreading nuclear weapons — without linking that issue to West German's role in the Atlantic alliance.

"If the Soviet Union and others want to talk about the problem of proliferation," Rusk told a news conference Friday, "they will find that the United States is willing to go all the way to insure that there is no proliferation of nuclear weapons."

To Talk in N. Y.

Rusk is scheduled to go to New York this weekend for conferences with other foreign ministers on hand for the opening of the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday.

One of those he is known to be most interested in meeting is Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Officials say the nuclear weapons issue and other disarmament questions will be high on the agenda of any Rusk-Gromyko meeting, along with the question of peace possibilities in Viet Nam.

Rusk will return to Washington late next week for a conference between President Johnson and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

The United States and its NATO allies have discussed setting up an allied nuclear weapons system which would include Germany, but various plans have been shelved.

A reporter asked Rusk whether Erhard might be told by Johnson that Germany is not "to get a finger on the trigger" of nuclear weapons under NATO.

The secretary replied that the United States has never discussed "any arrangement that would involve... the transfer of nuclear weapons into the hands of non-nuclear powers or the transfer of control of those weapons into the hands of non-nuclear powers."

Man Is Wounded By Woman After He Makes Threat

A 39-year-old Poughkeepsie man was in critical condition today at Northern Dutchess Hospital, Rhinebeck, suffering gunshot wounds of the chest, as the result of a shooting incident at the home of a former woman friend at Clinton Corners.

According to Rhinebeck State Police, Harold Walter Guild went to the home of Mrs. Adele Clark, Pumpkin Lane, at about 3:35 p. m. Friday and demanded entry. When refused by Mrs. Clark, Guild reportedly attempted to kick down the front door and when he turned the knob he found the door was unlocked.

Threatened Her Life

Guild, according to a report of BCI Investigator Joseph Colligan, entered the house and walked toward the woman. She told investigators that Guild threatened to kill her and she ran to the corner of the living room and picked up a loaded .22 caliber rifle.

Troopers said Mrs. Clark told Colligan and an assistant district attorney she fired several warning shots in the direction of her former friend, but he continued to walk toward her.

The woman admitted she then fired point blank at Guild. The shot hit him on the chest and he collapsed to the floor.

Condition Is Critical

The wounded man was rushed to the hospital in Rhinebeck by that community's Fire Department Rescue Squad. His condition (Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

COURT ORDERS PROTECTION FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN—A law officer watches Negro students leave Grenada, Miss., school, recently integrated. Judge Firms Protection Order for Negro Pupils

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — A federal judge has made permanent his order that Grenada officials protect Negro children from "savage and senseless" attack by white men.

Judge Claude Clayton issued his order Friday night in Oxford, 45 miles to the north. He said the violence Monday and Tuesday was "the shame of all who occupy leadership, both officials and civic, in the county and the city of Grenada."

Refers To Attacks

He referred to attacks on Negro children outside newly desegregated schools by white men swinging ax handles and chains.

The ruling came after two days of testimony on the violence. In many instances, police merely watched the attacks, witnesses said.

Grenada officials would be exposed to contempt of court action by failure to obey the injunction. The possible consequences were emphasized when Judge Clayton sentenced Grenada Constable Brady Carroll to four months in prison for contempt.

The judge ordered Carroll to begin his term at noon today.

The case against the constable had been pending since he pleaded guilty at a hearing last month involving Negro claims that law enforcement officers were ignoring the court's orders to protect legal civil rights demonstrations.

Carroll had refused to accept a federal court subpoena and

Note Wholesale Prices of Liquor Expected to Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale prices of liquor in the state will drop next month on more than 500 brands, but whether the consumer will benefit is not certain.

The reduction in wholesale prices became known Friday when Donald S. Hostetter, chairman of the State Liquor Authority, announced he had received acceptable records from the 89 suppliers.

The SLA reportedly was optimistic about the price decrease extending to consumers, but some industry sources believe they will not.

The law, effective Oct. 1, requires distillers and wholesalers to charge no more in New York than they do in other states. Enforcement of the law had been stymied for two years as a re-

Saugerties Pilot Records 5,000th Viet Nam Sortie

A Saugerties fighter pilot teamed up with his California navigator in a F4C Phantom Jet to record the 5,000 combat sortie of the 558 Air Force Squadron in Viet Nam, the Air Force announced today.

According to an Associated Press release, Capt. Donald C. Quackenbush, 31, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Quackenbush of Washington Avenue Extension, Saugerties, set the milestone while flying with Lt. George R. Rhomanson, 26, of Ukiah, Calif.

Capt. Quackenbush, a 1952 graduate of Saugerties High School, is a veteran of over 10 years in the Air Force. He is stationed at Cam Ranh Bay, Viet Nam, about 200 miles north of Saigon and has been in Viet Nam since January 25 of this year.

Quackenbush said his son attended the University of Connecticut and then enrolled in the Air Cadet Program at Harlingen AFB, Texas in 1955. After graduation he flew with the Military Air Transport Service as a navigator.

He took his pilot's training at Webb AFB, Texas, graduating as the top man in his class, Dec. 30, 1963, and winning the Commander's Trophy for excellence. MacGill AFB in Tampa, Fla., was the captain's next duty station. He resides there when in the States with his wife, the former Jean B. Werten of Charleston, S. C., and their two children, Robert Bruce, 5, and Beth Ann, 3.

Pilots Down Mig in Dogfight But Two U.S. Planes Are Lost

Peking Claims Jets Strafed Kwangsi Village in Red China

TOKYO — (AP) — Peking charged Saturday that two U. S. F105 Thunderchiefs strafed a village in Red China on Sept. 9. A broadcast dispatch of the New China News Agency said they wounded three members of a people's commune, killed a draft ox, and damaged two rooms in an area of Kwangsi Province, which adjoins North Viet Nam.

The American jets were reported to have been intercepted by Chinese fighters. The dispatch said one of the American planes was damaged.

The agency, quoting a spokesman of Red China's Defense Ministry, said the Thunderchiefs violated Chinese air space over Tunghing, a county of Kwangsi's Chang autonomous region, at 9:10 a. m. Sept. 9.

Thunderchiefs handle most of the U. S. Air Force's bombing missions over North Viet Nam. The broadcast dispatch, as recorded in Tokyo, quoted the Defense Ministry spokesman as saying: "The two U. S. planes immediately carried out wild strafing of the ground and fired a number of rockets, wounding three commune members, killing a draft ox and damaging two rooms."

"Aircraft of the Chinese people's air force immediately took off resolutely and intercepted the enemy planes and immediately damaged one of them."

The Peking statement did not pinpoint the location, but it seemed to be a minority race commune near the North Viet Nam border. The long delay in reporting the alleged incursion went unexplained.

Name Woman, 28 For Governor on SW Party Ticket

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — If, by chance, all the candidates for governor of New York State appear on one platform, the Socialist Worker party's nominee will be easy to identify.

After all, Judith White, a pretty, 28-year-old college instructor from Manhattan, is the only woman among the six candidates for the governor's chair.

Entered Friday

Miss White was one of two additional gubernatorial nominees entered in the race Friday. The Socialist Labor party designated Milton Herder, a commercial artist, as its candidate.

The nominating petitions for the Socialist Worker and Socialist Labor parties' candidates were filed with the Department of State.

Miss White's youth may prove to be a technical drawback because the state constitution sets a minimum age of 30 for a person to serve as governor.

When a reporter pointed this out to Miss White's campaign manager, Mrs. Rita Shaw of Manhattan, Mrs. Shaw answered that the constitutional re-

Peking Orders Troops To Halt Red Guard Acts

HONG KONG (AP)—Peking was reported today to have moved regular troops into Canton streets to curb violence by local teen-age Red Guards in that southern China metropolis.

Arrivals from Canton said the army regulars began patrolling the streets Wednesday night or early Thursday, after a group of

See Buildup Threatening Suez Canal

LONDON (AP) — Kenya's Vice President Joseph Murumbi says a Soviet arms buildup in northeast Africa threatens a stranglehold on the Suez Canal.

Interviewed at the close of the 22-nation Commonwealth conference Friday, Murumbi said the Russians have recently shipped a large supply of arms into Somalia, the desert republic on Kenya's northern frontier.

These supplies are far in excess of Somalia's internal needs, he said. "It is obvious they are going to use them."

Somalia, an independent state formed from former British and Italian colonies, has territorial claims against Kenya, Ethiopia and riot-torn French Somaliland. These claims have brought repeated skirmishing on its Kenyan and Ethiopian frontiers.

Murumbi said the Somalis now have 20,000 men under arms, about three times as many as Kenya, and have Russian MIG jets flown by Soviet and Somali pilots.

Sight on Straits

"The real danger," he said, "is that the Russians will establish themselves in the horn of Africa and thus win control of the Aden Straits and the canal and place the oil interests of the West in the Arabian Gulf in danger."

Murumbi, deputy to Kenya's independence leader Jomo Kenyatta, said the recent arms (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. pilots downed a Communist MIG in one of two dogfights over North Viet Nam Friday, but two American planes were lost in other action over the north, a U.S. military spokesman reported today.

The Soviet-built MIG was knocked out of the sky by a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile in an engagement northeast of Hanoi in which three Americans piloting F4C Phantom jets were outnumbered by four MIG17s. The pilot of the struck MIG bailed out.

Total Now at 375

An Air Force spokesman said the two downed American planes brought to 375 the number lost over North Viet Nam. A total of 120 have been shot down in the south. He said 206 helicopters also have been downed in the south and three in the north.

On the ground, a Communist force of more than battalion strength opposed two companies of U.S. Marines today just three miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The Marines were believed to be fighting a reinforced North Vietnamese army battalion, or possibly two battalions. A Marine spokesman said the two companies "don't seem to be in any particular danger."

The fighting began about noon Friday. Since then the Marines had killed 50 Communists, according to body count. They estimated 110 more of the enemy have been killed, but this figure was not confirmed.

Listed Missing

The pilot of one plane knocked down Friday was listed as missing, but the two-man crew of the other was rescued by helicopter. Their Phantom was hit while they were striking supply targets in the panhandle area just north of the demilitarized zone, they bailed out over the zone.

It was the second time the pilot, 1st Lt. Bernard D. Gier of Chicago, had been shot down and rescued and the third time for the copilot, 1st Lt. Henry J. Knock, 27, of Akron, Ohio.

The downed MIG was the 19th lost by the enemy in aerial combat over North Viet Nam, compared with five U.S. planes.

A second dogfight, also northeast of Hanoi, took place between two MIGs and four F105 Thunderchiefs. The MIGs fled after a brief encounter, apparently with no damage to either side.

Resnick Claims Trooper Sat In On Press Parley

Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, (D-Ellenville) said today that an undercover man from the State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation had passed himself off as a newspaper reporter and eavesdropped at a press conference held by the congressman Wednesday, at the Essex House, New York City.

Resnick charged at the press conference the State Police with the use of illegal wire taps.

Congressman Resnick said, "Within hours of my conference, top brass at State Police Headquarters in Manhattan were listening to a complete tape of the proceedings at approximately the same time that Superintendent Cornelius was in Albany issuing his usual denial of wiretapping."

Identity Known

Resnick said that the undercover agent "whose identity is known to us," fled the conference when he thought that he (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

Metropolitan Opera Opens Season in Blaze of Glory

NEW YORK (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera opened its $45.7-million new home at Lincoln Center in a blaze of glory Friday night — and it almost seemed as though fireworks went off when General Manager Rudolf Bing announced from the stage that the musician's strike, which threatened future performances, had been settled.

Cheers went up from the audience already dazzled by the gala opening night, with Samuel Barter's new American opera "Anthony and Cleopatra" on one side of the footlights and a cross-section of the world's power and wealth on the other.

Avers U.S. Checking Red Charge Report Indicates One Jet Damaged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday the United States is looking into a Peking charge that U.S. planes strafed a Chinese village near the Vietnamese border Sept. 9. But he said he had no information on any such action.

Rusk told a news conference that the only information he had been able to find on the incident alleged by Red China was a Saigon announcement the next day reporting an encounter between American planes and Communist-built MIGs.

He did not identify the nationality of the MIG aircraft.

Pentagon sources had no immediate comment on the Radio Peking report of a strafing attack. Peking said two houses were damaged and an ox was killed. One American plane was damaged by Red Chinese planes the report said.

Rusk told his news conference that "we will be checking further into the matter."

Area Youth Faces Charges in Fatal AF Base Shooting

A 19-year-old Ulster County Airman faces a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the shooting of a sentry at Altus Air Force Base, Okla., earlier this month, according to The Associated Press.

An Air Force Board of Inquiry charged Airman 3/C Dennis M. Reilly Friday in the death of Airman 3/C Robert C. Fitzgerald of Fall River, Mass., on Sept. 5.

A spokesman said Reilly also was charged with handling "a weapon in a culpably negligent manner" in the pre-dawn shooting.

Mrs. David E. Reilly, of Esopus, mother of the airman, told The Freeman today that she had received a letter earlier this month from her son and also a letter from an Air Force officer informing her that a preliminary hearing had been held after the shooting incident and it had been ruled "accidental."

Mrs. Reilly said her son had told her he was on sentry duty with the other airman at the time of the shooting, and she had no knowledge of the type of weapon involved in the incident.

Reilly is a brother of the late Pfc. James R. Reilly, who died March 17 smothering an enemy hand grenade with his own body to save the life of a foxhole mate while serving with a Platoon of the 2nd Battalion of the Third Marine Regiment 15 miles southwest of Da Nang.

The two marines were manning a machine-gun foxhole when attacked by a Viet Cong unit. Pfc. Reilly saved the life of Pfc. Edward E. Burgess, 20, of Portland, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Reilly are the parents of another son, Marine Corporal David E. Reilly Jr., who was wounded in Viet Nam some weeks before his brother, James, died in action.

Rhodesia Unrest

—A group of Africans — SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — A group of Africans lobbed gasoline bombs at a block of four shops on the outskirts of Salisbury Friday night, sparking off a fire which gutted the building.

The South African Press Association also reported that a number of fire bombs were hurled onto the veranda of a hotel seven miles from Salisbury. Guests rushed from their rooms in light attire and chased a gang of Africans.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODIE ISHMAEL

The "Old Whalers' Church," known officially as the First Presbyterian Church, is in the little town of Sag Harbor at the Eastern end of Long Island, New York. It stands not only as a symbol of faith today but as a monument of faith to a great era now past. During the peak of Sag Harbor's whaling industry in the mid-19th Century, the church, with its steeple piercing 185 feet into the sky, served as a beacon for homebound whaling ships. It also served as a spiritual beacon to the hundreds of whalers who called Sag Harbor home, for it was the first and last thing sighted as they sailed in and out of the harbor. After many months at sea, with storage barrels brimming with whale oil, the lonely whaler's thoughts turned to home and his magnificent steeple that would guide him to a safe berth.

Many of the sailors had helped build the church. It was built in 1843, mostly by ship's carpenters. The mahogany was brought in by whaling ships and all of the beautiful woodwork was carved by skilled shipwrights.

Gone are the great whaling men and whaling vessels from Sag Harbor. Gone too is the beautiful spire of the Old Whalers' Church. (It was destroyed by the hurricane of 1938 and has never been replaced due to the tremendous expense.) Yet the memory of both still live on in the Old Whalers' Church and in the hearts of the people of Sag Harbor.

Parable Film To Be Shown at Fair St. Church

The much-discussed and highly-debated film, Parable, which was featured at the Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Center at the New York World's Fair will be shown this Sunday 7 p. m. in the Parish Room of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

The film, not designed to be entertainment, was created to depict in Parable form, the story of salvation history, and its effectiveness is largely created through the subjective reaction of those who watch it. There is no verbal dialogue; the viewer must interpret the characters through their actions. The basic theme of the film is The Man Who Dared to Be Different. Seven main characters role-play the virtue-vice personalities of modern-day man. Into each character's life comes the principle character, the clown in white, identified by some, as the portrayal of Christ.

The film will be preceded by a brief introduction. Then, those attending will be given the opportunity to discuss their feelings and reaction to the presentation and their analysis if its meaning. The film will then be shown a second time. Refreshments and a social period will follow. The community may attend.

Announcement of the vicar appointments in the Archdiocese of New York were made this week by his Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman.

God in Space Age To Be Theme of Lutheran Parley

DR. HAGEN STAACK

God in the Space Age is the theme of a special Hudson District meeting of the New York Synod, Lutheran Church in America, to be held Sunday at St. John's Lutheran Church in Poughkeepsie.

The objective of the program is to relate God and the Church to the realities of the space age. Special effort has been made to appeal to the youth membership. Speakers at the meeting will include the Rev. Dr. Hagen Staack, a frequent guest on NBC-TV's "Frontiers of Faith"; the Rev. Dr. Charles D. Moser, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Merick, L. I.; and Louis Kleiman of NASA's Electronics Research Center, Cambridge, Mass.

Films and slides of space flights will highlight Mr. Kleiman's address entitled The Flight Director. The space walk of astronaut Ed White during the flight of Gemini IV and the docking difficulties encountered by astronauts Neil Armstrong and Dave Scott in Gemini VIII will be shown as part of Mr. Kleiman's talk following dinner at the church Sunday evening.

Dr. Staack, professor of religion and chairman of the Department of Religion at Muhlenberg College, will address the meeting following a 3:30 p. m. service. Dr. Moser will deliver the sermon.

The meeting will begin with registration at 3 p. m. at St. John's Church, 55 Wilbur Boulevard, Poughkeepsie. Dinner will be served at the Church Fellowship Hall, by the women of St. John's, assisted by the men and Luther Leagues.

The Hudson District of the New York Synod comprises Lutheran churches in the counties of Sullivan, Greene, Ulster, Orange, Columbia and Dutchess.

John Cabot, a Venetian employed by the English, reached Canada in 1497.

Classis Churches Start Membership Visitation Plan

The Rev. John Hiemstra, associate secretary of the Stewardship Council, Reformed Church in America, served as speaker and guide to seven local Reformed Churches at a stewardship training meeting held at the Fair Street Reformed Church Wednesday.

After a dinner served by the ladies of the Guild, and devotion led by the pastor, the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, the Rev. Mr. Hiemstra presented the Every Member Visitation Program to those in attendance. He emphasized the fact that such a program entailed a visit upon every member of the churches involved with the one objective of commitment of time, talent and financial support. The theme for the denominational stewardship program this fall is Give of Your Best.

Churches involved in the sessions are the Reformed Church of Beacon, the Reformed Church of Arlington, Poughkeepsie, St. John's Reformed Church of Upper Red Hook, the Marbletown Reformed Church of Stone Ridge, the Hurley Reformed Church, Woodstock Reformed Church, and Fair Street Church. Six delegates from each church: general stewardship chairman, program chairman, resources chairman, materials chairman, visitations chairman, and pastor were in attendance. Some churches sent additional men as observers.

The next session has been set for Oct. 12 again at the Fair Street Church. At that time visitation captains and representatives will be joining the group after the dinner. The fall program represents one of six which are being conducted throughout the Reformed Church in America at this time.

Ridge Church Is Back on Regular Service Schedule

Church school will resume this Sunday 10 a. m. at the Episcopal Church of Christ the King, Route 213 between High Falls and Stone Ridge.

Also on the agenda Sunday is the annual family fall picnic on the church grounds starting 3 p. m.

Registration of children for the church school will take place Sunday with pre-school and kindergarten children starting on the hour. Pupils in grades one through six will attend church with their parents and plan to leave for classes during the singing of the sermon hymn.

The picnic, sponsored by the church school, is open to all. Each family will bring its own meat to cook on charcoal grilles as well as a dish to share with others. Games and activities are planned for the children.

Among other fall activities planned by the church is the Senior Altar Guild corporate communion breakfast Sept. 25. Members will make their Holy Communion as a group at the 8 a. m. service and remain for breakfast in the parish hall.

Released time instruction will resume Oct. 5 and continue Wednesdays 9:45 to 10:45 a. m. through the school year. Bus transportation has been arranged from Marbletown School to the church. Confirmation instruction for children in the sixth grade is provided at this time. Parents are required to sign permission slips with the school in order for their children to attend.

Young people's fellowship grades 7 through 12 resumes Oct. 2, with initiation of new members and election of officers. Meetings are held throughout the year on first and third Sunday of the month.

1st Presbyterian To Host Mission Speakers Sunday

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. E. John Hamlin from Thailand will speak Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf Street and Tremper Avenue, where the Rev. William J. McVey is minister.

In the worship assembly of Church School at 9:45 a. m., Mrs. Hamlin will speak; and Dr. Hamlin is to preach the sermon at the 11 o'clock service of worship on the subject, God's Now. The Rev. Mr. McVey will conduct the service and baptize Heather Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Jenkins Jr., of Cambridge, Mass., and Kathleen May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald B. Nichols. Under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, the senior choir offers selected anthem, and Mrs. Douglas Dyke, a soprano solo. The public may attend.

Sponsored by Local Church
Dr. and Mrs. Hamlin are fraternal workers of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. with the Church of Christ in Thailand, where they have served since 1954. This is their third visit to the local church which has sponsored them as adopted missionaries for about seven years.

Born in Michigan and brought up in western New York, Dr. Hamlin is a graduate of Oberlin College with Bachelor and Master degrees; and of Union Theological Seminary, New York City, where he earned a Doctor of Theology degree. Following ordination, he served two years as assistant minister of First Presbyterian Church, Auburn, two years in pastorate of Presbyterian Church, Saugatit, L. I.; and during World War II as an army chaplain.

Served in China

From 1947-51 he taught in the Middle School and Theological College of Cheelo University in Tsinan, China, returning to the United States when the Communists came to power in China. After a year's study at Union Theological Seminary, he worked for two years in Geneva with Interchurch Service of the World Council of Churches.

In 1954 he was transferred to Thailand to become principal of McGivray Theological Seminary at Chienmai, which later became known as Thailand Theological Seminary and of which he is president. The seminary is an institution of the Church of Christ in Thailand with a faculty that is interdenominational and international including about five American professors. Mrs. Hamlin is a teacher of varied courses in the arts and drama.

At the conclusion of morning worship Dr. and Mrs. Hamlin are to be honored at a reception in Ramsey Hall, sponsored by the World Friendship Study Circle.

Local Delegates Will Attend Area Lutheran Parley

Immanuel Lutheran Church will be represented at the 22nd annual convention of the Lutheran Laymen's League of the Mid-Atlantic District with which it is affiliated. The convention is being held at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Wilkes Barre, Pa., on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 1 and 2.

Registration starts at 12 noon on Saturday with the keynote address being delivered by Professor Philip Tuhy, a member of the faculty of Wilkes College in Wilkes Barre. He is an instructor in political science and will speak on the convention theme, God, Your Job and You.

Among those who will attend from Immanuel Lutheran Church are George C. Bode, 80 Moore Street, Kingston. Membership representative George E. Weis, Tilton, Lutheran Hour chairman.

81 Local Members
A total of 81 members of Immanuel congregation hold membership in the league.

Presiding at the sessions of the convention will be S. Filip Wilfrid, a member of Messiah Lutheran Church, Plainfield, N. J. and president of the district. Wilfrid is seeking reelection as president.

Acting as host of the Lutheran Laymen's League will be the congregations of the Susquehanna Zone of which Milan Mihoc is president. Chairman of the convention committee is Fred Endres of Pittsford, Pa.

Robert W. Hirsch, president of the International Lutheran Laymen's League will be the headquarters representative. He will report on the league's world-wide program of Christian service, and will be the speaker at the convention banquet, a feature of the convention on Saturday, Oct. 1.

The Mid-Atlantic District is in Region One of the International and will be represented by Charles Richman of River Edge, N. J. board member of the region. He will be granted the floor from time to time to share with delegates and friends what is going on in the International. The Mid-Atlantic District, encompassing 3609 members, is one of the 42 geographical divisions of the International Lutheran Laymen's League, an auxiliary organization of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod.

Six Operators "That Will Curl Your Hair"!

Artistic Beauty at 44 North Front Street has six operators on call who will style your hair with great expediency and with styling of remarkable quality.

Mr. Michael M. Mattia started his beauty business in the old opera house building on the corner of John and Fair Streets in 1927. Always striving to improve his technique, he entered the International Hair Cutting and Styling competition in 1929 at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City and was awarded a trophy for speed and quality of work. In October of 1929 he relocated his business to 33 North Front Street on the top floor over the present London's store. The building was then owned by Jacob Joslovitz and was later purchased by London's. Mr. Mattia operated his beauty business at this location for 15 years, then moved to his present location in 1943. He purchased the building in 1953 and remodeled the front this past spring.

So when you are looking for The Artistic Beauty Salon, look for the aluminum sided store in white and aqua on North Front Street and also look for their advertisement weekly in the Kingston Daily Freeman handled by adman Robert H. Saefflo, pictured.

The End of Chicken Little

The beginning of a plumper bird that's tenderly young, meatier too. Meater? Yes! Once for ounce, the Golden Bird gives you more meat to bone right than ordinary chickens. Each piece is plumper. Because this is a special kind of bird, bred for an abundance of tender meat.

Another fine product from Swift's was advertised in The Kingston Daily Freeman this past Thursday. Look for this new, meatier bird in the gold package today at your favorite grocer. Swift guarantees it's the tenderest, most delicious chicken you ever tasted.

Fresh? Look at the crisp sprigs of parsley in each package. That's how fresh! Never frozen. Young Again, it's the special breeding that brings Golden Bird to a plump, tender eating stage at an earlier age than other fryers. Why? The golden color? Carefully balanced feeding of rich, meat-producing nutrients. It's firm, lean meat that cooks to a beautiful golden brown.

Watch for another full page national advertisement in The Kingston Daily Freeman this coming Thursday, September 22nd.

Many Happy No-Returns!

Now, all Canada Dry beverages are available in no-deposit bottles. Everything from our all-time favorite, Ginger Ale, to exotic Tahitian Treat.

The next time you shop at your favorite grocer, check out a shopping cart full of six-packs and forget about checking the bottles back in. Just remember to keep returning the Americans' favorite — Canada Dry soft drinks and mixers, Ginger Ale, Orange Drink, Wink, Club Soda, Tahitian Treat, Diet Cola, Diet Ginger Ale and Quinac Tonic Mixer.

Watch for the national advertisement appearing in The Kingston Daily Freeman, Wednesday, September 21st and the special offer of 20c off on every six-pack of no-return bottles. The offer is good for a limited time only!

All the nationally advertising in the Kingston Daily Freeman is processed by Craig Plough, pictured, advertising dispatcher.

Where Bottles Stand "On Their Heads"

It's time once again to pack school lunches—rather than picnic baskets. And why not pack in another outing? Days are mellow, colors are brightening, Autumn is spreading its glorious beauty. What better place to enjoy an outing than the historic and scenic Hudson River Valley?

One of the unique landmarks there is, is Brotherhood Winery, which has witnessed so many turnings of the seasons in its long history as the oldest winery in America.

Brotherhood now offers its Fall schedule of conducted tours—at 1:30 o'clock—Monday through Friday, and every half-hour on Saturdays and Holidays from 10:00 a. m. to 4 o'clock.

During the tours, visitors go down into Brotherhood's deep underground cellars, largest in the country. Guides show tourists the huge white oak casks where wines "sleep" and the champagne vaults where bottles stand "on their heads" in their racks.

They explain a bit about wine-making, one of man's oldest arts, and why New York State wine-grapes are world-famous. Free wine-tasting is another feature of the tours which last about an hour.

Bear Mountain, West Point, Hyde Park, New Windsor Cantone and numerous other places of interest are within easy access and Brotherhood's staff will assist tourists with sightseeing information.

A Small-Space Campaign In Your Daily Paper

Every advertiser knows about "the big sell" — "the big sell" takes big money. But if you have something to sell and a small budget to sell it with, you need "the small sell" — A small-space campaign in your daily newspaper!

It's small in size . . . small in cost . . . BUT BIG in impact and selling power. Many advertisers are thinking small—and finding that small space newspaper ads can do a big selling job. This technique is being used with good results by two types of advertisers: those who want to get the most out of a limited budget and feel they need more frequency in their schedules; and present users of large space newspaper campaigns who can use small space advantageously to supplement this advertising.

With a small-space campaign you get BROAD COVERAGE—because if one ad doesn't catch the reader's eye, maybe the next will. And the high frequency of insertions gives you REPEATED IMPACT!

Phone The Kingston Daily Freeman, FEderal 1-5000 or Federal 1-0832 and have an advertising salesman help you. He has the knowledge and is equipped to draw-up a small-space campaign for your business.

Questions and Answers About Advertising

Q—Shouldn't advertising sponsors and writers have a sense of responsibility to the public and avoid bad grammar and slang in advertising?

A—We think a large majority of the people in advertising would answer your question with an emphatic "yes." A small minority would say: "The only purpose of advertising is to sell. As long as we don't depart from accepted standards of decency, the grammar we use in selling is nobody's responsibility but our own."

Language is a living form of communication. Grammar, of course, is constantly changing. Take, for example, "who" in the sentence "Who do you call?"—which you cited. We were taught to say "whom." But some authorities sanction "who." Just one example: Professor Bergen Evans writes in his Dictionary of Contemporary American Usage: "When a verb follows 'who,' it is correct to use 'who.' However, when it follows a preposition, it must be 'whom.'"

Advertising writers try to avoid stiff and stuffy language. In their efforts to write as most people talk, they may resort to slang, as in the other advertisement you mentioned. Slang is condescended by very few people in advertising. We don't like the word "irregardless," either, but common usage has put it in the dictionary!

Do ungrammatical advertisements irritate the prospective customer to the point of developing an unfavorable attitude toward the product? It doesn't always follow. The final judgement of the effectiveness of ungrammatical advertising rests with the public. If enough people are irritated and shun the advertised product, the advertiser soon discovers his mistake. That's why, among the thousands of ads in print and on the air, so few play fast and loose with grammar.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 17, 1966

TEXTBOOK RESPONSIBILITY

The nation's textbook publishers are enjoying an unprecedented boom. Total sales are reported to be 10 per cent above last year's with even better business predicted for next year.

The steady rise in the number of children in school does not wholly account for this boom. Another important factor is the increase in federal aid to education, which brings heavier textbook spending especially in areas where the schools have had sharply restricted buying power. Also, the use of closed-circuit television and various automatic teaching aids have boosted the demand for printed study materials.

It is good to know that there is such a brisk market for textbooks. It is good to know that America's young people have such a tremendous variety of educational materials available to them. But the textbook boom can also be taken as a reminder of how important it is for schools to choose wisely from this wealth.

There has been some fear that the federal government, as it pours more and more funds into public school education, will seek a decisive voice in textbook selection. Though this may be more a bugaboo than a genuine threat, the idea should be and surely will be resisted by state and local school authorities.

The coin has another side, however. The public is more knowledgeable in such matters than it used to be. Unless educators at the local level make sound choices of teaching materials, with an eye to the highest educational values, they may find themselves facing public demand for something better. This might prepare the way for the federal government to step in. That can be avoided if educators are both wise and fair in exercising their responsibility.

A REVIEW OF SAFEGUARDS

The practice of closing the barn door after the horse has run away is still with us. The runaway horse, in this instance, is a capsule of lethal radium which was lost in mid-August en route by rail from Texas to New York. One result of that episode was a series of conferences among government authorities and the Railway Express Agency which resulted in tighter Railway Express record-keeping procedures.

Not, however, before another capsule of radium was lost—this one en route from Seattle to New York. The barn door was not slammed quickly enough.

At this date no good could be accomplished by chiding the Railway Express Agency for not having instituted tighter controls over such shipments long ago. New procedures arrived at by agreement with various federal agencies are now in effect, and the chances of such a loss occurring are much less than they were before. It is no use crying over the spilled milk of the two capsules that somehow vanished.

But the two instances of this highly radioactive substance being mislaid do serve as a sharp reminder that in the nuclear age special precautions must be taken. Such precautions relating to atomic installations and to shipment of radioactive materials are in effect, and have been for years. However, the case of the vanishing radium suggests that the time may be at hand for a thoroughgoing review of the entire system for safeguarding the public against these particular dangers.

ALIEN IDEOLOGY

In their zeal to purge China of anything and everything remotely "Western," from coiffured hair right down to pointed shoes, the rampaging Red Guards have overlooked the most pervasive Western influence of all.

This is the philosophy conceived in the West by a Westerner (who had only contempt for the primitive East) and designed to be applied exclusively to technologically advanced Western society—Marxism.

Ironically, it is in the very name of this alien ideology that the dogmatic Chinese teen-agers are carrying out their excesses. Maybe one of these days they will wake up to the contradiction.

Then, indeed, could be a revolution.

Global View

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Even among friendly Europeans, American prestige has declined sharply since the escalation of the war in Viet Nam. It is an irony that the United States, where public relations has become a fine art, has made a feeble effort to explain to friend or foe why Americans are fighting in the jungles of Southeast Asia.

Yet a clear definition of war aims, as Bismarck warned a century ago, is "a major political task during a war." The most important element in military strategy is clarity about one's intentions. To be sure, President Johnson has said repeatedly that the only U.S. objective is to check Communist aggression. He and members of his administration have made it abundantly clear that they want nothing better than to withdraw American troops from Viet Nam on the basis of a just peace settlement.

But their declarations, usually made during a spell of partisan political oratory or in reply to foreign and domestic critics, have been fragmentary, sporadic and incomplete. In the face of mounting criticism of U.S. foreign policy, they have been defensive and apologetic.

Nor has the United States Information Service (USIA) and its Voice of America done much to improve the American image with their misplaced objectivity.

For instance, how many Europeans are aware that most non-Communist nations in Asia back the American effort to check Red aggression in Viet Nam? Such nations include Japan, Thailand, Turkey, the Philippines, Laos, South Korea, Nationalist China and even "neutral" India and Burma.

These countries are directly affected by the war in Viet Nam. They are on the side of the United States not because they fear President Johnson's imperialist aims but because they are convinced that America is also fighting their battle for freedom and independence.

Yet the USIA, instead of emphasizing the positive aspect of American policy, continues to stress merely that the United States has limited objectives in Viet Nam and no ambitions of territorial gain.

Are these, then, America's only war aims? Why did the United States become embroiled in the Vietnamese conflict in the first place?

The one realistic answer is deceptively simple. Americans want for the people of Viet Nam or Laos or South Korea precisely what they want for themselves. This is freedom of choice, an opportunity for development within their own historic and cultural framework and an increasing measure of human dignity.

These are not platitudes. Americans have long realized—and they demonstrated it in two world wars—that only active participants in a free world community can be safe and secure. The idea of freedom, though often distorted and abused, is deeply rooted in American history.

Surely the time has come for the Johnson administration to issue a White Paper or a comprehensive statement that will spell out clearly American war aims in Viet Nam.

In modern war, the power of ideas is as vital as the power of armies. Long as ideas influence the minds of men they will defy armies and make history.

An American White Paper will hardly convince the professional pessimists or those who seek a victory for the Viet Cong Communists.

But, like President Wilson's historic Fourteen Points in the first World War, it will encourage America's friends and bring new hope to the millions who struggle against Red Imperialism.

Severe Tooth Infections Can Have Fatal Results

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Linda B. complained of pain and swelling of about three days' duration in her right lower jaw. She was having difficulty opening her mouth and swallowing and "felt very tired."

Patient was a 28-year old, well-developed, well-nourished female. Right side of jaw under floor of mouth was swollen and had a board-like hardness that extended from eye tooth to angle of jaw.

Her lips were parted, yet she couldn't open her mouth more than a half-inch, and could just barely stick out her tongue beyond edges of teeth. Complete mouth X-rays were impossible because of limited opening.

Skin color was sickly pale and patient was in obvious distress. She was having some difficulty breathing. Pulse was above normal; temperature: 102.

Linda B. was placed on regimen of warm mouthwashes and given aspirin to help reduce fever and antibiotics to control infection. A day later swelling had not subsided but patient "felt better" and looked better. Mouth opening increased to about one finger and temperature returned to normal. Breathing was easier and regular.

Two days later swelling had still not subsided but mouth opening was wide enough to allow more complete examination. Area around lower right wisdom tooth was red. Tooth was painful to touch. X-ray showed abscess around roots.

On fourth day, wisdom tooth was removed. Swelling seemed to be subsiding and was less hard. Patient continued to improve. Antibiotics were discontinued on tenth day.

Diagnosis: Ludwig's Angina. This is a dangerous inflammation. If untreated, swelling can close the throat causing death by suffocation. Infected teeth are often the cause and in this case it was the infected, partially erupted wisdom tooth.

Serious complications from Ludwig's Angina are not common in this day of antibiotics, but the threat is dangerous enough to put everyone on the alert when swelling of the jaw occurs.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

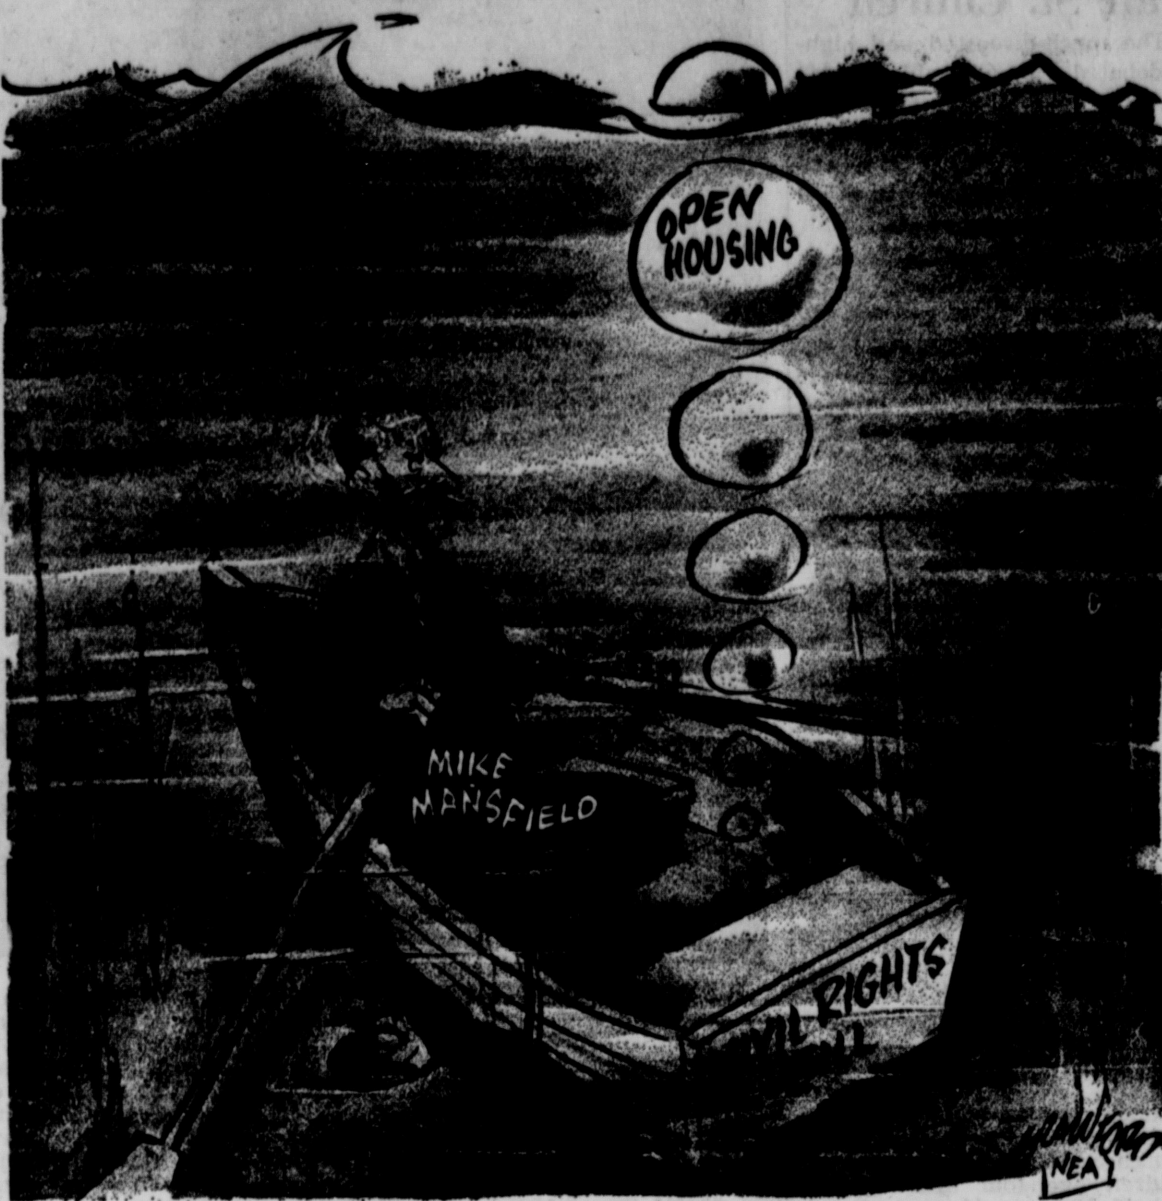

'HOT LINE' IS IDLE

For three years, now, the Washington-Moscow "hot line" has been ready. For three years it has been held open 24 hours a day for use in case normal channels of communication should break down in time of crisis. Not once in those three years, it can happily be noted, has the "hot line" carried anything other than test messages.

This is one indication that, for all the agonizing tensions, there are grounds for hope that we are moving toward a more rational and better ordered world. Peking pours out a lot of wordy belligerence, the end of the Viet Nam war is not in sight. But our relationships with the Soviet behemoth, despite the coolness over Viet Nam, are demonstrably better than they were in 1962 when the Cuban missile crisis gave rise to the "hot line." It is only a crumb of hope, but a crumb worth having.

Johnson says anti-inflation measures may be necessary unless business and labor exercise restraint. But the need won't develop until after election.

Could Be a Slight Leak

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Almost every week some one or other says that this or that will cause escalation of the Viet Nam war and perhaps cause it to flare into a major war with Red China.

When these predictions are made, my memory goes back to my experience in Japan in the decade before World War II.

Crack Russian and Japanese infantry divisions faced each other along the Manchurian-Russian border. There were heavy clashes some in which whole divisions were virtually wiped out. These battles could have escalated into all-out national war. But they didn't.

Moreover, these clashes—which included tanks and considerable amounts of artillery—in all-out battles, were not reported in the press. We in Japan never heard about them.

It was only later during World War II, during interrogation of Japanese prisoners who had been with the Japanese 2nd Division on the Manchurian border in the 1930's, that this reporter learned about the size of these battles. These prisoners described in detail how most of their division had been wiped out, with large Russian casualties as well.

These were full-blown, major battles. Again, in the Korean war, the Chinese Communists made certain before they entered that the United States would not attack Red China's territory. They received these assurances from the United States through British diplomatic channels.

After entering, they were cautious in attempting to prevent the war from spreading beyond certain bounds. They used the same caution in India. They are likewise cautious in Viet Nam.

Communists have their own concepts as to when to expand a conflict into a full-blown war and when not. It doesn't depend on "provocation." It depends instead on when the Reds believe they can take advantage of war for their own purposes.

The Communists can always whip up a "provocation" when they want one.

Now it's possible the Red Chinese will enter the war heavily in Viet Nam. There are some careful, responsible State Department analysts who feel they might.

But the experience of the past few years does not indicate that Chinese entry will depend on U. S. "escalation" or "provocation." It will depend, instead, on whether entry will serve the

Anything With Wheels Is Fine for King Hussein

By BOB COCHNAR
and DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
AMMAN, Jordan — (NEA) —

So far as we know there is only one country in the world which can boast a Royal Go-Kart Club and that country is the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan.

The honorable members of that organization meet each Friday afternoon to put their little machines through their paces. And, when they're not racing go-karts, there are always the Jerash hill climbs or sports car races on the Amman airstrip.

Jordan, a hot, dusty little country placed precariously between Israel, Syria and Saudi Arabia, is plain car-crazy, largely because its sovereign, Hussein I, is interested in any vehicle with wheels.

The man behind the throne, in this case, is Maurice Raynor, a Britisher who has maintained the king's fantastic stable of automobiles for more than a decade.

Raynor, a stocky, pink-faced man in his 50s, showed us around the royal garages recently and pointed out some of His Majesty's favorite cars.

"He likes that Aston Martin over there," he said, "and, of course, the Mercedes 300-SE," pointing to the famous old gull-wing sports car in the corner. His Majesty's particular favorite for the moment, is the Porsche 911. "But," says Raynor, "every year it's something different."

King Hussein, now 31, first became interested in cars and racing when he was given a Rover in 1952 while he was a student at Harrow, one of England's most exclusive private schools. He met Raynor at the same time.

Says the king: "Raynor was a man whose only interest in life was cars. I was a boy who shared exactly the same passion. We got on famously together. . . . This was the start of my love for fast cars."

Hussein recounts in his autobiography, "Uneasy Lies the Head," "Very soon I began to think of bigger and better cars. . . . I received another gift — this time a Bristol, that would do 90 miles an hour without trying."

And now the young, dynamic king personally owns or has access to about 85 automobiles, including a brace of Royal Rolls-Royces. "We've had the Rolls for about six years," Raynor says, "and all we've had to do is replace the plugs. The other cars we have to replace completely in about two years."

Though Raynor doesn't approve ("I'm not in favor of half the things he does," Hussein, his Keeper of Cards grudgingly admits, "is a very fast—and good—driver at all times. But to a nervous passenger, he is sometimes too fast."

When he is not flying planes or waterskiing, King Hussein generally does his own driving.

"Whenever a Jordanian sees a chauffeur sitting in the back seat," Raynor says, "he knows the king is at the wheel."

SPINOFFS: All those nasty (but funny) jokes about the Volkswagen have been collected and published ("The Jokeswagen Book," Bernard Geis, Publishers, $1.95) and some of them are gems. Examples:

"Stand by for a radical change being forecast for next year's Volkswagen. It's the wiring for the cigarette lighter. . . . Prospective customer to salesman: 'Oh, I'll admit a Volkswagen is cheap to buy, inexpensive to operate, easy to handle and practical—but what good is it otherwise?' . . . Honest Harry, a user car salesman, is showing a possible customer a used Volkswagen, saying: 'I've got a confession to make about this one. One of the spark plugs needs replacing.' . . . Apparently, the Volkswagen people don't mind these jokes at all. Our copy was given to us by Doyle Dane Bernbach, VW's advertising agency."

Business Week in Review

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the nation's top businessmen rallied behind President Johnson during the week, supporting his program to cool off inflation. Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., called the President's proposal "a sound approach to present economic problems."

Consider LBJ Plan

Congress began consideration of the President's plan. It calls for a 16-month suspension of tax incentives for business investment in new equipment and buildings.

The suspension would apply both to a 7 per cent tax credit on business spending for machinery and to fast tax write-offs, the accelerated depreciation allowed on commercial and industrial buildings.

Support for the President's plan was not universal, however, particularly among Republicans.

George W. Romney, the Republican governor of Michigan frequently mentioned as a possible presidential candidate, said, "Discouragement of plant expansion at this time is exactly the opposite of what we should be doing."

Acted Too Late

Romney said Johnson could have acted last winter to head off inflation.

Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, was among the first to object.

A few days later, chief executives of Chase Manhattan Bank, including David Rockefeller, welcomed the President's action.

Further support came from Frederick R. Kappel, American Telephone & Telegraph Co. chairman; Stuart T. Saunders, Pennsylvania Railroad chairman, and William B. Murphy, Campbell Soup Co. president and chairman of the President's Business Council, an advisory group.

Many Object

But there were emphatic objections from a number of business organizations, including the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

A.V. Leshe, Douglas Aircraft Co. vice president, said suspension of the tax credit could dry up plane orders and plane production would be cut substantially if not stopped.

Daniel P. Loomis, Association of American Railroads president, said withdrawal of credit for equipment purchases would greatly hinder efforts to overcome a boxcar shortage.

The National Federation of Independent Businesses sought an exemption for small firms. Another part of the President's anti-inflation program moved through Congress to his desk—a bill giving federal supervisory agencies more flexible powers to control the savings rates paid by savings and loan associations.

To Slow Competition

The bill is aimed at simmering down the competition among financial institutions for savings account deposits.

Banks have been in the grip of the tightest money situation in 40 years, with so much of their deposits out on loan they have little money left to lend.

At the same time, they were faced with a big demand for funds during the week from corporations borrowing to finance federal income tax payments and quarterly dividend payments to stockholders.

Short-term interest rates went up sharply. Bills auctioned by the Treasury carried the highest discount rates on record.

Most of the common stock offerings scheduled for public sale through underwriters during the week were deferred because of market conditions.

The Federal Reserve Board, the Bank of England and the central banks of nine other countries announced a major expansion of credit to each other to head off currency crises.

The most immediate effect was to gather support for the British pound in face of rumors it might be devalued, and to provide massive short-term credits for the United States, if they should be needed.

Other Developments

There were these other developments:

G. Keith Funston, 55, president of the New York Stock Exchange since 1951, announced he would resign his $25,000-a-year post when his contract expires next year.

Resnick Claims

was recognized by former trooper, John Donahue, who was dismissed from the force by Cornelius and whose battle for reinstatement is being supported by Resnick.

"Cornelius' agent 'departed' in such a hurry that he left behind his coat and car keys," Rep. Resnick stated. He said that the keys were attached to a tag which listed a license plate number to be issued to the State Police.

The New York congressman had charged at the Wednesday press conference that former trooper Donahue had been thrown off the State Police force in reprisal for his taking court action against Cornelius in opposition to a new promotional system initiated by the superintendent.

Congressman Resnick said that wiretapping of Donahue used to be done by men like Donahue, opposed the system.

Produce Car

"Wednesday" said Resnick, "I charged Cornelius to produce a car in possession of the State Police bearing license number 3707CW and carrying a New York Telephone Company marking. I charge that this car and equipment are owned by the police and has been used in illegal wiretapping."

The congressman said, "If Mr. Cornelius will produce that car, I will give him back the undercover man's coat and keys so he can have back the vehicle his agent drove to my press conference. I assume they need the latter badly because since I made my first statement regarding wiretapping, all of the wiretapping vehicles have been recalled by the State Police including 3707CW. I imagine they are suffering from a shortage of cars by now."

Resnick said that he and Donahue would meet with Cornelius and anyone he cares to bring along, at a time and choosing the superintendent funds convenient, as long as the press is allowed to be present and ask questions.

"I have repeatedly tried to reach Cornelius by telephone," said Resnick, "but he has never been available. Instead all we hear are routine denials. I want to meet him face to face. But I can understand his reluctance to speak on the telephone."

Boy Returns Home

John Miller, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Miller of 66 West Union Street, who was reported missing at 5:30 a. m. today, later returned to his home, according to city police.

Wrong Contractor

An article appearing in The Freeman Sept. 14 was in error in stating that the new firehouse for the Ulster Hose Company on Route 9W was being built by the Kennedy and Son Construction Company. The $50,000 structure was built by the Johnson and Larson Construction Company of 283 Wall Street.

Report Plaza Collision

Two Kingston residents were reported uninjured as a result of a minor accident in the Kingston Plaza Friday afternoon. According to investigating police officers Joseph Kivlan and Jerry Vitek, cars driven by Mrs. Clara C. McGrath, 47, of 172 Clinton Avenue, and Frank DeCicco, 32, of 18 Grant Court, were in collision. There were no charges.

for Central Hudson Gas and Electric, said, "That's really something. My wife and I are very proud of him."

Captain Quackenbush is expected home early next year. He was in Saugerties last Christmas.

Met Opera

Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York—who had not been expected—and who seemed to occupy the section of the box left vacant when U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant failed to show up. He sent word that he had a toothache.

Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who had not been on the list of advance ticket holders either, were in the audience.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, widow of the president, was absent because, a spokesman said, she was in Boston entertaining scholars sent here by the British government in honor of her husband.

With most of New York's "best-dressed" unable to get tickets, fashion reporters described the audience as "rich but tacky."

Mrs. Johnson, at her best in an alabaster chiffon gown by George Stappolis, was an exception.

Mrs. James Price, in a beige lace suit and pearls and the star's brother, immaculate in the white dress uniform of a U.S. Army lieutenant colonel, beamed with pride as Mrs. Johnson told them Leontyne was "so regal." Col. Price returned from Viet Nam last year.

They weren't at all in awe of Binas—his chest covered with medals—and Mrs. Price told him she had always thought he was a "stout gentleman."

"I was until a week ago," he said, referring to the strike and the mechanical difficulties and the other troubles which for a time made it seem a dream that the Met would be able to open its new home on time.

The building itself, the magnificent finale to the cultural complex of Lincoln Center, seemed to overshadow the opening night.

The fountains, and the Marc Chagall murals and the audience took almost as much attention.

New York Times critic Harold C. Schoenberg called the opera a "big, complicated package: Big, grand, impressive and vulgar."

"Almost everything about the evening," he said, "artistically speaking, failed in total impact."

John Chapman of the Daily News said it was an "eye popper" but not exactly an "ear soother."

He found the score "more exciting orchestrally than vocally" and praised "an almost continuous visual excitement in the production."

Mrs. Johnson told the singer's mother, "she was perfectly magnificent." The critics applauded Miss Price too.

Terms for settlement of the strike of the 100-man orchestra made them, union chief Max Arons said, the highest paid players in the world.

When the opera ended, with 14 curtain calls, New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay gave a champagne reception for 1,800 in the grand tier lobby. There were about another 1,800 crashers and the jam was like New York's subway at the rush hour.

At one point a Secret Service man asked reporters: "Have you seen Mrs. Johnson anywhere?"

The answer was "no" and the reason, it turned out later, was that she had discreetly slipped out and gone to her Carlyle Hotel apartment.

among city authorities, "the decision making at every level obviously has been deficient for quite awhile."

City officials in Grenada "have virtually surrendered or abdicated their responsibility to the Mississippi Highway Patrol," he said.

Civil rights leaders have scheduled four daytime protest marches in this northern Mississippi city of 8,000.

Hosea Williams, a top lieutenant to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the drive now centers on adequate housing, a living wage, and equal justice.

A committee will ask landlords—who own Negro homes—for improvements, he told a rally. If refused, SCLC intends to seek a city housing code. If this fails, added Williams, there will be a rent strike.

Williams said King would be in Grenada Monday to address a rally.

Majestic Answers

He resigns in a shower of incriminations. Mr. Brach charges harassment, but it is of his own making. He has no one to blame but himself!

Seen Handy Target

"Mr. Brach apparently singles me out as a handy target because I am a Democrat and a candidate for Member of the Assembly in the 99th Assembly District, and—noticeably—Mr. Brach is a Republican."

"As an elected official of the Town of Gardiner, my office calls for responsibilities to the taxpayers—not only of the Town of Gardiner, but also of Ulster County. My job is to ask questions which, at times, may be uncomfortable to someone. I am accused of doing just that when I have attended meetings of the Planning Board—the County's newest Department, which is extensive, very important and it may become expensive."

"I was invited to the meeting of the Water Resources Committee of the Ulster County Planning Board, which was held at the Planning Board office on July 27, 1965, the following members being present—Raymond Cruthers, Kenneth Clarke and Reiner Thibien; also Ralph Brach, Cristos Larios and Harry Edinger."

"A discussion was held as to the progress of the study. Mr. Larios stated that Mr. Leggett has not yet completed the ground water study to the point where he could designate the prime drilling locations but that he had promised to do so by August 1. Mr. Larios then requested permission to engage the Lane Co. to make the test drillings, at the rates agreed upon. Ralph Brach then asked about the agreement with Leggett, Brashers, Graham and Mr. Larios advised that this firm had been engaged to make a complete geologic study of the county looking for major sources of large supplies of subsurface water (in neighborhood of one million gallons per day) and Leggett estimated that there would be ten such locations and ten wells drilled of an average 150' in depth of which Leggett estimated that five would have screens set and test pumping done on. Mr. Larios stated that the agreement with the Lane Co. was to drill at the rate of $10.00 per foot for drilling and a flat rate of $250.00 for each move to a new location plus $750.00 for each screen setting and $18.00 per hour for developing and test pumping, that these rates had been agreed upon at the October meeting to which the members of the Water Resources Committee were not invited. That Mr. Kendrick and Mr. Ehler had been at this meeting and the rates were agreeable, that a maximum of $25,200 was to be spent for such drilling, developing and testing. The committee then approved the hiring of the Lane Co. for the drilling and testing of the wells."

"It is my sincere hope that the above noted minutes of the Water Resources Committee will be an eye opener. I make the following points:

At a maximum cost of $25,200 (taxpayers' monies) for these test wells, there was no competitive bidding.

Also remember that none of the test holes to be drilled—wherever located—could not be left in place. The casing must be removed and holes plugged!

At the last meeting of the Planning Board, Mr. Brach stated that the Lane Company was the only professional driller in the State that could do this job.

It would also be interesting to know whether or not the wells were to be drilled by a rotary or a hammer type drill. There is quite a difference! What a waste of the taxpayers' money."

I urge you—as Supervisor, citizen and taxpayer—to try to take a more active part in your government.

As for Mr. Brach, he wanted to be a dictator on the Ulster County Planning Board, but he ended up a quitter—in the middle of a job! Thank you."

and F. Gordon Jr., recite the events as they remember them in broad terms, with experts listening in.

The astronauts fly Sunday to the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex., where they'll go into more detailed discussion of all phases of the flight, with specialists asking questions.

In Houston, they'll also have reunions with their families. Conrad and Gordon were flown here by helicopter Friday from the carrier Guam. They landed just two miles from the site after completing their record-shattering space journey Thursday.

Of special interest during the debriefings will be the workload that exhausted Gordon and forced him to cut short a space walk. The questioning may lead to a solution to the problem of man working outside an orbiting ship—something U.S. space men have found to be difficult.

During the journey, Conrad and Gordon set seven new man-in-space records, including an altitude of 850 miles, quickest rendezvous and linkup with an Agena satellite, flying formation while tied to the Agena by a 100-foot tether and first automatic re-entry and landing.

Meanwhile, space center officials began releasing pictures taken by the astronauts during the historic voyage.

A 40-foot strip of 16mm color movie film showed Gordon straddling the Agena to tie it to the nose of Gemini 11.

The movie revealed that Conrad described the scene well. "He's riding it like a cowboy," Conrad radioed to earth.

Marvella Calls For Legislation In State Police

Joseph A. Marvella, Liberal party candidate for the State Senate in the 38th Senatorial District, said today:

"Now that Congressman Resnick has brought out into the open the sordid details of the Rockefeller-Cornelius campaign to destroy Trooper John Donahue, residents of the Mid-Hudson Valley are breathing a cleaner, purer air."

"It is a sad situation that my opponents for the State Senate are so shy of issues that by their silence they participate in a conspiracy to keep the Donahue case buried from public view. This is the fourth occasion in the current campaign that I have tried to bring this situation out in the open as an issue on which legislative candidates should stand up and be counted. Once again I call on my opponents—Mr. Rollison, Mr. Graham and Mrs. Becker—to take a stand on my specific proposals to eliminate the cesspool of patronage in the Division of State Police and make it impossible for another Donahue case to happen."

Marvella advocated: Place all personnel appointed to the State Police under Civil Service Law and rules, and establish a legislative committee to investigate and oversee the entire operation of the Division of State Police.

He said, "The first proposal ought to be easy for my Republican opponent to endorse, as Senator Pomeroy introduced this bill back in February. Somebody has to make the first move in this dull campaign where nobody else wants to discuss issues. How about it, Mr. Rollison?"

quirement would be important "if she is elected."

That possibility appears slight since the Socialist Worker party drew only about 20,000 votes of the nearly 6 million cast in the gubernatorial election four years ago.

A spokesman for the Election Division of the Department of State said the matter would have to be studied—if a question was raised—before a final decision could be reached.

The secretary of state must examine the petitions submitted by the parties, and, if there are no challenges, the candidates will be placed on the ballot.

In past years, the Democrats unsuccessfully have challenged the two parties. This year, however, with the Liberal Party having nominated its own candidate, political observers questioned whether the Democrats would raise any challenge on the ground that the Socialist votes might go to the Liberals.

The Socialist Workers said they had obtained 19,562 signatures on their petitions and the Socialist Labor party announced it had more than 17,000.

Miss White, a blue-eyed brunette, formerly taught anthropology at Boston University.

She said Friday, however, that she would campaign full time. She said her platform would consist largely of a demand for ending the war in Viet Nam.

Other Socialist Worker candidates are Richard Garza for lieutenant governor, Paul Bouteille for attorney general and Ralph Levitt for comptroller.

Garza is a Manhattan restaurant worker who was the party's candidate for governor in 1962.

Bouteille is a Negro taxi-cab driver from Manhattan. Levitt, no relation to Comptroller Arthur Levitt, is a teamster in Manhattan.

Herder, of White Plains, is joined on the Socialist Labor ticket by Doris Baltantyne for lieutenant governor and John Emanuel for comptroller.

Mrs. Baltantyne is employed in the party's office in New York City. She lives in Brooklyn.

Emanuel, of Yonkers, is a fur worker.

The Socialist Labor party did not nominate a candidate for attorney general.

If the Socialist Labor and Socialist Worker parties gain spots on the ballot—as they have in the past—voters will have a choice of six slates of candidates for statewide office in the November election.

Republican, Democratic, Liberal and Conservative party nominees are already on the ballot.

Rusk Will Act

he said what is important now is to separate the two problems, the German-NATO issue and the nonproliferation issue.

His statement that the United States "is willing to go all the way" for nonproliferation indicated this is the line he intends to take in his talks with Gromyko.

"I have no doubt that if we could all concentrate on the problem of preventing the further spread of nuclear weapons, we could make substantial and rapid progress," Rusk said.

In past negotiations the Soviet Union has consistently linked the treaty proposal and the German-NATO question, contending that the United States intends to provide West Germany with nuclear weapons.

"I would hope that we could conclude a space treaty that would insure that space activities are conducted for peaceful purposes," Rusk said.

"We would like to see some progress on a comprehensive test-ban treaty. But thus far we have not been able to solve the problem of providing sufficient guarantees of compliance among all those that might be parties to the treaty."

John M. Rodden Jr.

Funeral services for John Marshall Rodden Jr., 28, of 25 Green Street, Kingston, who died last Monday at the Albany Medical Center, were held Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the Keyser Funeral Service, Port Ewen Chapel, Broadway and Stout Avenue. The Rev. Cecil McFarland, pastor of the Port Ewen Methodist Church, of which Mr. Rodden was a member, officiated. The services were largely attended and numerous floral tributes were received. Committal services, conducted by the Rev. McFarland, were held at Montrose Cemetery. Bearers were: Gerald Beaver, Eugene Beaver, Myron Lane Jr., Edward Clark, Paul Mercer and James Wells.

Gertrude A. Rafferty

Funeral of Gertrude A. Rafferty who died suddenly Tuesday was held from the Halloran Funeral Home, 261 Broadway, Friday 9:15 a. m. thence to St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul at 10 a. m. by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly assisted by the Rev. James V. Keating. Responses to the Mass were sung by Mrs. Eleanor Sweeney assisted by James Sweeney, organist. At the offertory the choir sang Ave Verum. Attendance at the Mass and the large number of friends calling at the funeral home attested to the esteem in which Mrs. Rafferty was held. Wednesday evening Father Keating called and led the assembled family and friends in the recitation of the Rosary. Thursday evening the staff of the Hurley School and many teachers of the Kingston Schools Consolidated called. At 8 p. m. members of St. Joseph's Rosary Altar Society and St. Joseph's choir called and were led in the recitation of the Holy Rosary by Msgr. O'Reilly and Father Keating. Also calling were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Austin V. Carey, Sisters of St. Ursula, city officials and business people of Kingston. There were many spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards and beautiful floral tributes completely banked the room. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Keating gave the final blessing. Bearers were Edward F. Glynn, Earl J. Carroll Jr., Norman H. Franz, and Robert R. Regan Jr.

In other developments at home and abroad:

—Rusk said the United States would check into Peking's claim that U.S. warplanes strafed a Chinese village near the North Vietnamese border eight days ago. He said his only information was that American pilots had encountered some Communist MIGs about 30 miles south of the Chinese frontier.

—Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he favors a unilateral reduction of the U.S. military effort in Viet Nam. "I feel the American people do not have their hearts in this war," the Arkansas Democrat told newsmen in New York after lunching with Secretary-General U. Thant at the United Nations.

—Rumors circulated that the Vatican that Pope Paul VI was preparing to make a "spectacular gesture for peace" soon. The rumors did not say what the gesture might be.

—A former Vietnamese premier, Tan Van Huu, said in Paris that Pope Paul told him an accord between the Catholics and Buddhists in South Viet Nam would be announced shortly.

—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in Salt Lake City, Utah, that the Viet Nam conflict is one of the key issues of the fall elections. "All the way with LBJ is looking down the road to a war which will last for five years," he said.

Trinity Lutheran Slates Rally Day Program Sunday

The committee on Christian Education at Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone Streets, announces plans for a Rally Day program to be held Sunday at 9:30 a. m. in the church school assembly hall.

Registration and class assignments of pupils is expected to be completed at that time and students will begin studies for the new school year.

Earlier this month, members of the congregation received letters of call to teach in the church school. Teachers met recently with Ralph Grothkopp, superintendent, and accepted teaching positions as follows:

Mrs. William Slover, Mrs. Roger Dell, nursery; Mrs. Daniel Bittner Jr., Mrs. Robert Paulus, Sandra Grothkopp, kindergarten; Mrs. William Hughes, Mrs. Judy Redman, Charlene Heidron, grades one and two; Mrs. Betty Phillips, Blanche Burr, Gail Woerner, Ronald Smith, grades three; Mrs. Frank Doyle Jr., Stephan Rider, Pooey Tomshaw, Janet Miller, grade four; Mrs. Herman Miller, Ida Woerner, Cheryl Phillips, Gayle Spath, grade five; Mrs. John Doolin, Susan Baxter, grade six; Mrs. John Frenssen, Mrs. Eugene Bedard, Sharon Decio, grade seven; Mrs. Ralph Grothkopp, William Bittner Jr., grade eight; The Rev. John Frenssen, pastor, Bible class.

A program of adult education for parents of school children is tentatively planned for this school year. Parents would meet in a class room during lesson time. All parents will contact the pastor or Ralph Grothkopp to express their interest.

Attendance pins will be presented to those pupils who made up absences in last year's school by attending church services during the summer months. Parents of pupils are invited to be present and to sit in on class sessions, to acquaint themselves with the teachers and the new LCA lesson materials.

Tracey-Cotich Wedding Announced

Miss Dorothea J. Tracey of Woodstock wed Peter A. Cotich of West Camp on Saturday, Aug. 27, 1966, in a double ring ceremony at St. Mary's Church, Cementon, N. York.

The Rev. Urban Maggio, O.F.M., officiated at the 5 p. m. wedding and Mrs. Charles Dickman was the organist.

White gladioli and pale pink carnations decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Kenneth H. Snyder of Woodstock, and the late Louis P. Tracey of Saugerties. Mr. Cotich is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cotich of West Camp.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a white shantung A-line gown styled with empire waist, scoop neckline, and a modified princess skirt featuring a pleated back panel. She wore an elbow length mantilla and carried a colonial bouquet of miniature white carnations, pale pink sweethearts roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy.

Miss Fran Demoney of Binghamton was maid of honor. Miss Susan Horsey of Woodstock and Mrs. William Mergendahl of Saugerties were the other bridal attendants. All friends of the bride, they wore floor length A-line gowns of turquoise chiffon styled with scoop neckline, elbow length ruffled sleeves and empire waists that featured floating back panels. The bridesmaids wore matching chignon double Dior bows. The maid of honor carried a colonial bouquet of pale pink and hot pink carnations, baby's breath and ivy. Bouquets in the same style, except made entirely of hot pink carnations, were carried by the other bridesmaids.

Alan Cotich, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Serving as ushers were James Cassano of Brooklyn, cousin of the bridegroom and James Mergendahl Jr., of Saugerties, a friend of the bridegroom. A wedding reception for 140 guests was given at the Cementon Sportsmen's Club.

The bride was graduated from Oyster High School. Her husband, a graduate of Saugerties High School, is owner of the Cementon Chevron Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotich are residing in Saugerties after a wedding trip to Maine.

Witnesses Slate Area Assembly at Local Auditorium

The 16 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses representing the Central Hudson River Valley area are formulating final plans for their semi-annual assembly according to a report by David Koebe, News Service director for the group.

"The Watchtower Society has announced Kingston as the assembly site with the date fixed for the weekend of Sept. 23," announced Mr. Koebe.

"Kingston is well-suited for such a gathering," said Koebe, "as the fine facilities of the Municipal Auditorium, as well as its ample capacity, makes it ideal for the type of assembly planned."

"The program format will be centered around the modern-day needs of youth," Koebe continued, "and all members of the Kingston community and surrounding areas are invited and encouraged to attend."

"With over 1,000 regional Witnesses planning to attend," concluded Mr. Koebe, "it becomes obvious that these conventioners recognize the knowledge of Biblical principles as applicable in our day for contented living."

Wedding Custom

In Buddhist wedding ceremonies, rosary bracelets (called juzu) are passed over incense, then placed over the hands of bride and bridegroom as a symbol of unity.

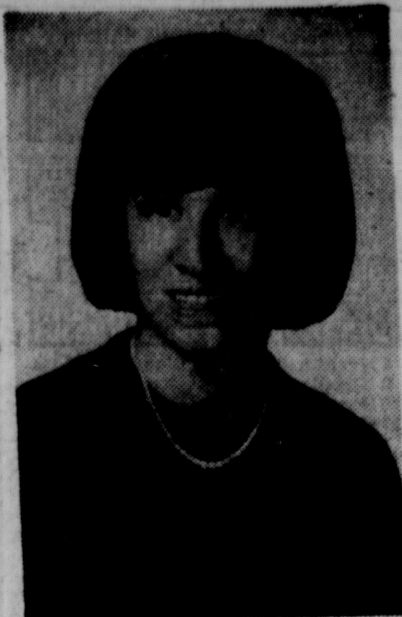

A honking, hostile goose long has been recognized as a superior watchdog.

HINTS FROM HeloiseLetter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

If you have an urge to slipcover a chair with something impractical, go ahead and do it. Just remember to place the chair where the family is unable to watch television while sitting in it.

It will stay nice almost indefinitely!

Mrs. F. Clark

Dear Heloise:

My dresser was always messy with powder and make-up until I put a guest towel in the top drawer.

The towel is spread over the dresser while I'm using powder and is easily folded and put back in the drawer. Result—a clean dresser.

Frances Page

Dear Heloise:

I use a spray bottle of water in the nursery to dampen a washcloth instead of running for a wet one at diaper changes.

I also save empty powder boxes for the nursery. I think it is much easier to puff powder on the baby instead of sprinkling it on.

The puff stops powder build-up in the creases of skin because you can apply it more evenly.

Naturally, I fill the box with baby powder.

Barbara Yaeger

Dear Heloise:

I also take a nap when I put my boys down for theirs.

I use a wide headband as a blindfold! Any dark color will do.

It makes it so nice and dark you will think it is night. It's easy to get to sleep that way if you have trouble sleeping during the day.

Mary Curtiss

Dear Folks:

I'd like to pass along some hints on sewing plastic, which we just learned from a manufacturer.

Do not pin plastic as the material will get pin holes which cannot be removed. Mark it with chalk or crayon.

Use a fine needle when sewing it.

Last, but far from least—and we've said it before—never put plastic directly on wood. Eventually, it will ruin the finish of your furniture.

So be sure to remember these little tips when you're using those wonderful plastics.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When painting, I use an old soup ladle to dip my paint out of the gallon can into the paint tray or smaller can.

No more paint around the edge or down the sides of the can, and the lid is easier to close.

The excess paint can be removed from the ladle with the brush you are using.

Also, I tape a brush to a yardstick to reach the edge around the ceiling.

Gwen

Dear Heloise:

I am forever copying recipes, and I save time by numbering the ingredients.

When writing the directions, I simply refer to the ingredients by number instead of writing out all the words again.

Kathi Kan

Dear Heloise:

Grandparents, save those little comments your sons and daughters make about their children when they write to you. Make a scrapbook of them with the date of each comment.

With three small children I find myself reporting their progress in letters to my parents, but neglecting to put it all down in their baby books.

It won't be too long before I would dearly love a present like that.

Jayvee Prospects Hold Key to SHS Football Fortunes

Seither Hopeful Youngsters Can Produce Results

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Last year's sophomores, most of whom played jayvee ball, will form the nucleus of this season's football team at Saugerties High. The Sawyers, coached by Fred Seither, will debut next Saturday against Highland.

Seither, who is trying to lift the Sawyers from a 3-5 mark to heights they reached several years ago, is counting on hold-over seniors to provide leadership.

Aside from the non-league opener at home against Highland, and a game at Albany Academy, Saugerties has all DCSL tussles. Included is the first football meeting with Poughkeepsie, now a circuit member.

Candidates by positions are as follows:

Ends — John Nagy and Drew Craig, starters; John Worthman, injured last year; William Casal and Ken Myer, jayvees in '65 plus Dean Bryden, Doug Covert, Steve Turk, Randy Fury, Brian Kane, Andy Schoch.

Tackles — Fred Serravallo, starter last year; Ward Borich, erd and Rich Downey, promoted from jayvee; Carl Nickerson, injured last season; Bill Emerick, a jayvee hopeful; Mark Muscarella, another jayvee hopeful; plus Don Notarnicola, Herb Whitaker, Steve Vedder, Roger Praetorius, Bill Pettinger, Rich Hunter, Kevin Doyle, Terry Delmonte, Craig Borner and Larry Andrusson.

Guards — Mel Hauck, Bill Reinhardt, Tom Anderson, members of the '65 club; Rich Bollin and John Washburn, up from jayvee; and Ed Bergen, Tom Emerick, Tom Myers and Tom Zeigler.

Centers — Tom Bell, moved from guard; Howard Post and Tim Suerran, jayvee graduates; and David Goble.

Quarterbacks — Grant Cym, injured last year; Dan Canger, a varsity player; John Warns, Tom Rizzio, jayvee prospects; and Paul Legg.

Halfbacks — Tony Konopka, a starter in '65; Rich Praetorius, Vince Buono, jayvee players; Larry Crantz, Steve Gardner, William Holden, Mike Turek and Albert Straub.

Fullbacks — John Ferraro, a starter and Tom Christiansa, moving up from the frosh.

If the Dodgers and/or Giants lose the hectic National League pennant race by a game or so, Jim Bunning of the Phillies and Larry Jaster will loom large as the nemeses of 1966.

Bunning, the only pitcher who ever went from the American League to the National and really made it big, and Jaster, the Cardinal rookie, have mesmerized the contenders with astonishing ease.

Bunning is 4-0 with 28 shutout innings against San Francisco this year. He has beaten them 11 times in 13 decisions since coming over from the National League in 1964.

Jaster's mastery of the Dodgers defies ordinary logic. While just another pitcher against the rest of the league, he has blanked the Angelinos four straight times. At the beginning of the season, the odds against such a feat would have been astronomical. Baseball is a game of statistics and Messrs. Bunning and Jaster are the showcases of 1966.

Leaves With Record:

Bobby Richardson made his formal retirement announcement today at Yankee Stadium amid the hoopla and sentimentality befitting the occasion. Bobby also quits the big time with a coveted World Series record — the 13 hits in the 1964 classic against the St. Louis Cardinals. . . The Yankees own a hatful of World Series records, having won 20 fall classics while losing only nine. . . It is ironic, however, that three of the four highest single game strikeout totals have been registered against the Bombers. Sandy Koufax set the all-time mark of 15 in 1963. Carl Erskine of the old Brooklyn Dodgers whiffed 14 and Bob Gibson of the Cards fanned 13. Howard Ehmke of the Philadelphia Athletics held the record for years at 13, set against the Chicago Cubs.

Yankee Pitchers Dominate:

Individual won and lost series records are completely dominated by Yankee pitchers. Whitey Ford's 10 wins is the all-time record. Vern (Lefty) Gomez posted a 6-0 record, while Charlie (Red) Ruffing and Allie Reynolds finished with 7-2 marks. Ford, however, has also lost most series games — 8. He has three shutouts (surpassed only by Christy Mathewson's four) and shared another with Jim Coates. Along the way, he fanned 94 batters, another career mark. The one record Ford may hold forever is his 33 2/3 consecutive innings of shutout pitching in World Series competition. It may take a millennium to eclipse that one.

The Perfect Performance:

Don Larsen's perfect game against the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1957 is another standard that will challenge pitchers through the ages. Ford's 33 2/3 scoreless innings also has that eternal ring about it. Expendables appear to be Bob Gibson's 31 strikeouts in a seven-game series and Sandy Koufax's 23 Ks in a four-game set. Koufax ranks seventh among the all-time strikeout artists in the game and he's now more interested in minimum pitches than maximum strikeouts. . . Mickey Mantle's 18 World Series career home runs pose a formidable challenge to the great batsmen of the future. Babe Ruth is second on that list with 15 and Yogi Berra third with 12.

The Ruthian Epics:

Mantle eclipsed Ruth's career total in home runs and Ford surpassed his consecutive scoreless innings in pitching. But the Babe still has a couple of gems going for him. Like his .500 average of .625, with 10 hits and three home runs in 1928. And he also twice hit three home runs in one game (in 1926 and 1928). . . Jim (Dusty) Rhodes of the Giants and Roger Maris and Elston Howard of the Yankees cracked home runs in their first World Series at bat. Others will do it in the future. . . Beating Hank Bauer's streak of hitting safely in 17 consecutive World Series games may be something else again. It takes a lot of luck for a player to get into 17 series contests in the average career.

LA Beats Bucs, 3-1; Mets Upset Giants

By MURRAY CHASS

What pennant race?

There was, or at least there seemed to be, one in the National League only a few days ago, but now you can't be sure.

The first-place Los Angeles Dodgers, using the same tactic they used in capturing the pennant last year, increased their lead to 3½ games over Pittsburgh and four over San Francisco Friday night by defeating the Pirates 5-1 while the Giants lost to New York 5-4.

The tactic the Dodgers used last year was simple — win, win and win some more. Now they're doing it again.

Just one week ago the Dodgers were tied for second with San Francisco, each 1½ games behind the Pirates.

Since then Los Angeles has won all seven of its games — the winning streak is eight overall — while Pittsburgh has dropped four of five and the Giants four of seven.

That combination has been enough to open for the Dodgers' biggest lead since the Giants led the Pirates by four games on June 28.

In winning the 1965 pennant, the Dodgers, who were 4½ games out at this time, won 13 straight games and 15 of their last 16, while the Giants managed only a 9-8 record in that time.

Perhaps, it's such a situation that prompted Friday night's losing pitcher, Bob Veale, to say:

"We're not out of it yet. They have 11 games to play on the road. Who knows, maybe they might lose eight or nine of them."

24th for Koufax

And maybe they won't, at least not while they have Sandy Koufax pitching. The brilliant left-hander stopped the Pirates on five hits and posted his 24th victory, most in the majors, against eight defeats.

"Sore arm my foot," Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente muttered after the game. "I not say his arm not stiff after game, but it can't be hurting when he's pitching. If it did, he couldn't throw that hard. He threw as hard as he ever has."

In other NL games Atlanta whipped Cincinnati 7-0, Houston topped Philadelphia 6-4 and St. Louis swept Chicago 3-1 and 4-0.

Helping Koufax was Lou Johnson, who hit a three-run homer off Veale in the third inning. Koufax extended his consecutive scoreless inning streak to 21 before Gene Alley drove home a Pirate run in the seventh with a sacrifice fly.

Willie Mays' run-scoring single sent the Giants ahead 3-2 in the eighth, but the Mets rallied for three runs after two were out in the ninth. Bud Harrelson drove in the second run of the outburst with his second triple of the game, then stole home for the eventual winning run.

Rookie Pat Jarvis won his fifth straight game, pitching a four-hitter against Cincinnati. Joe Torre drove in two runs with two singles as Atlanta handed Jim Maloney his eighth setback against 14 victories.

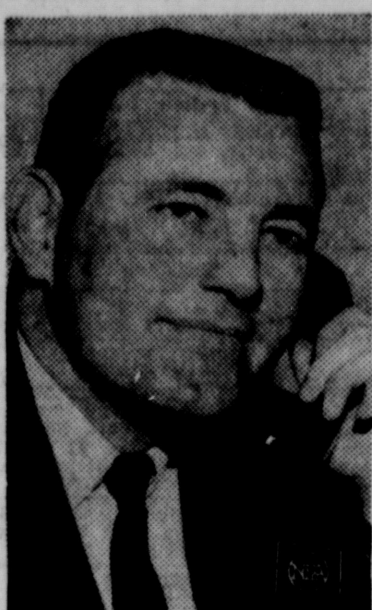

Chuck Harrison's fourth-inning, grand-slam homer carried Houston past Philadelphia and Chris Short, now 18-9, Harrison also doubled and scored in the sixth.

Bob Gibson became the majors' fifth 20-game winner in St. Louis' opening-game triumph over Chicago. He received help from Curt Flood, who drove in all three Cardinal runs.

Mike Shannon's three-run homer powered the Cardinals in the second game. The eighth-inning blow broke up a scoreless duel between St. Louis' Al Jackson and the Cubs' Rich Nye.

Early Balloon Ascent

As early as 1783, a rubberized silk balloon filled with hydrogen ascended to 2,000 feet and flew 27 miles. It was flown by a French professor of physics over Paris, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

VETERAN defensive back Bernie Parrish was placed on waivers by the Cleveland Browns Sept. 14. Parrish, in his eighth year with the defending Eastern Conference champions, asked to be traded or released as a result of not being named to start in last Sunday's opening game against the Washington Redskins. Bob Goalby Is Leading Golf Play

By LARRY KURTZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Bob Goalby held the lead with 134-Pete Brown was one stroke back—and Dave Hill was doing the talking after two rounds of the $50,000 Portland Open golf tournament.

"Everybody shoots the grass off this course," said Hill, who had just done it. His second straight 68 on the par-72, 6,436-yard Columbia-Edgewater course left him two strokes off the lead.

But Hill was not satisfied as the third round got under way today.

"I was in good position all day," he said. "I had a 32 on the front side par 36 and could have had 30 easy. I should be a couple shots in front."

He would have been, except for Goalby. Brown, one bad hole and a few putts that barely missed. Hill took a six on a 373-yard hole when his drive hit a tree and his chip back to the fairway went into the rough.

Otherwise, his play was flawless, and he talked like he expected to keep it up through the final two rounds.

Goalby, meanwhile, ripped off his second straight 67 to keep the lead he shared Thursday with three others. He dropped seven birdie putts, most of them from less than three feet.

His round was marred only by a six on the 362-yard sixth hole where he hit a tree.

Brown, a long hitter who in 1964 became the first Negro to win an official PGA tournament, is fast becoming a crowd favorite.

Bert Yancey, with some fine iron play, and Gay Brewer, with eight birdie shots, were tied with Hill two strokes off the lead.

Billy Casper, the leading money winner on the pro tour, had a bad time on the greens and finished with a 71 Friday, leaving him four shots behind.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, matching par again, was 10 strokes behind Goalby and seemed out of contention.

Power Failure Halts Contest In Washington

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

There seemed to be no way to turn off the Kansas City Athletics...so Washington turned off the lights.

Actually, the Senators were innocent bystanders Friday night when a power failure blacked out their game against the Athletics, who have been ablaze in the closing weeks of the American League season.

The A's went into the game with a seven-game winning streak and designs on a first-division finish for the first time in 14 years. Their young pitchers were working on a string of 27 scoreless innings and had allowed only six runs in the last 60 innings.

Kansas City's Lew Krausse and rookie Barry Moore of the Senators were locked in a scoreless duel in the third inning when four of the eight light towers in D.C. Stadium went out, the result of a fire in the transformer. Repairmen checked the damaged system and determined it would take 48 hours to get the lights working again.

The game was suspended, to be resumed before the clubs' scheduled game Sunday.

The A's and Senators already were in the dark when the lights dimmed in New York's Jim Bouton, who pitched 7 1-3 innings of perfect ball but was beaten by Minnesota 2-1.

Meanwhile, pitchers Joel Horlen of Chicago and Hank Aguirre of Detroit stepped out of the shadows as the White Sox blanked first-place Baltimore 4-0 and the second-place Tigers whipped Cleveland 3-1.

Horlen, making his first start in three weeks, stopped the Orioles on three hits and Aguirre scattered eight in gaining his first victory since June 10.

Elsewhere, Boston edged California 5-4 on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double in the ninth.

Bouton retired the first 22 men he faced while nursing a 1-0 lead over the Twins, but gave up a one-out single by Don Mincher in the eighth and was a victim of his own wildness and an error in Minnesota's two-run ninth.

Zoilo Versalles led off with a double and Bouton hit pinch hitter Sandy Valdespino with a pitch. Rookie third baseman Mike Ferraro then threw wildly past first on Cesar Tovar's sacrifice bunt, enabling Versalles to score the tying run. Valdespino raced to third on the error and scored as Jimmie Hall bounced into a double play.

Jim Merritt held the Yankees to five hits including Tom Tresh's run-scoring single in the first inning.

Horlen, who had been banished to the bullpen after a series of ineffective starts, permitted only one Baltimore runner past first base and faced only 30 hitters—three over the minimum—in gaining his ninth victory against 12 losses.

Ken Berry smacked three singles in Chicago's 13-hit attack that sent the Orioles to their fifth loss in seven games.

Aguirre breezed to his third victory in 11 decisions and hurled the Tigers within 8½ games of the lead—the closest they've been since July 17. Norm Cash tripled in the fifth inning and scored the go-ahead run on Al Kaline's sacrifice fly. Don Wert drilled an insurance homer in the sixth.

Yastrzemski lifted the Red Sox within range with a bases-empty homer in the eighth inning, then delivered the tying and winning runs with his two-out double off Lew Burdette in the ninth.

STARTING EARLY, young John Walsh Jr. of San Francisco goes skiing by hitching a ride in his father's knapsack on a vacation in New Zealand, where the winter sports season is at its height.

Rams Gain Win Over Bears, 31-17

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "They've got a nice ball club," said George Halas, the 71-year-old patriarch of the Chicago Bears.

"Any win in the National Football League is satisfying, but to beat George Halas and the Bears is extra special," said the Los Angeles Rams' rookie coach, George Allen.

Allen was the best, or worst, Alen and his former boss had to say after the Rams beat the Bears 31-17 Friday night before a crowd of 59,916 in Memorial Coliseum.

Allen agreed to pose shaking hands before the game with Halas, but Halas politely declined. The usual game-ending handshake was apparently mutually ignored.

The Rams go into Green Bay next Sunday with a 2-0 record. The Bears draw a bye and are 0-2.

Chicago had its chances Friday night and Halas could not be too pleased with the way the Bears let them slip away.

Leading 24-17, the Rams twice fumbled away the ball in the final four minutes. The Bears took over each time on the Los Angeles 19.

The Bears got nowhere, on two runs by Gale Sayers and six incomplete passes by Rudy Bukich.

In the final two minutes, Bukich's pass attempt from his 42 after a Ram punt was gathered in behind the line of scrimmage on a leap by 6-7, 250-pound defensive end Lamar Lundy, who lumbered 33 yards for the touchdown which put the game out of reach.

The defense took the play from a series of spectacular offensive plays.

An 84-yard pass play, Roman Gabriel to Jack Snow, put the Rams on the scoreboard in the first period.

Sayers' twisting 58-yard run from scrimmage gave the Bears a 17-14 halftime lead.

There was a 94-yard kickoff return by the Bears' Dick Gordon, but he fumbled into the end zone when overhauled on the Rams' three and kicker Bruce Gossett recovered for a touchback.

Green Bay's clash with the Browns at Cleveland and Houston's match with the Jets in New York feature the Sunday schedule. No games are scheduled today.

Green Bay and Cleveland are each 1-0 in the NFL, and their game is a rematch of the 1965 title game won by Green Bay 23-12. The Packers opened with a 24-3 victory over tough Baltimore, while Cleveland took Washington 38-14 in opening games this season.

The rest of the NFL schedule has New York (0-0-1) at Dallas for the Cowboys' opener, Baltimore (0-1) at Minnesota (0-0-1), Washington (0-1) at St. Louis (1-0), Detroit (1-0) at Pittsburgh (0-0-1), and Atlanta (0-1) at Philadelphia (0-1).

The Houston-New York affair, featuring quarterbacks George Blanda and Joe Namath, is a fight for the Eastern Division lead in the American Football League.

The other games have Miami (0-2) at Buffalo (0-2), Boston (0-1) at Denver (0-1) and Kansas City (1-0) at Oakland (1-1).

Sues for $500,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty Brooklyn artist is suing cartoonist Bob Kane, creator of Batman, for $500,000, charging Kane reneged on a business deal whereby she did oil paintings of the Batman principals from the Kane cartoons.

In court papers filed Friday, brunette Lynne Feldman said the arrangement made last year with Kane provided that she get $100 for each painting, expenses, and 10 per cent commission on sales of the paintings.

Between March and October 1965, Miss Feldman said, she delivered 19 paintings and received $1,000. She says she has received neither a commission nor an accounting of sales.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Motion picture star Elizabeth Taylor has 10 days to appeal a ruling that says she must defend herself against a charge that her conduct with Richard Burton damaged the boxoffice appeal of the film "Cleopatra."

The Paramount Theater of Portland has filed for $44,653 in damages contending that Miss Taylor's conduct while making the film, and a comment by her that the film was inferior, resulted in a boxoffice flop.

Miss Taylor's counsel earlier asked the court to rule that the state's long-arm statute cannot be applied to her because she has not been in the state or done business in it.

This view was rejected last month by U.S. Dist. Judge John F. Kilkenny.

Although he denied a new motion Friday to dismiss the case, Judge Kilkenny said there was enough grounds for a difference of opinion to allow her attorneys 10 days in which to appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Scores Governor's Stand on Federal River Valley Plan

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—The Democratic U.S. Senate candidate from New Jersey says Gov. Rockefeller's opposition to the proposed Hudson River Basin Compact is "unreasonable and unthinkable."

Warren W. Wilentz accused New York's Republican governor Friday of trying to block bi-state efforts to clean up the polluted Hudson.

Wilentz said Rockefeller should speak in favor of legislation that now lies before the President.

The governor is opposed to one version of the Compact on the ground that it would permit the U.S. Department of the Interior to control the operation.

The governor favors a compact that would have a 15-member commission — nine from New York State and three each from New Jersey and the federal government.

Dies in Fall

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—An 85-year-old woman, who had painted her home only last year, was injured fatally when she fell off the roof as she stepped back to look over the tarring job she had undertaken, officials said.

Mary Sincebaugh died in Tompkins County Hospital Friday night of injuries suffered hours before in the 14-foot fall from the roof over a first-floor bedroom in the two-story house.

A family spokesman said Mrs. Sincebaugh, in addition to painting the house last year, had replaced siding along one wall earlier this year.

The British geological team discovered the wreckage on the steep glacier several weeks ago but was unable to report it until returning here Friday.

The U.S. icebreaker Atka was headed for Reykjavik harbor today to pick up a joint Icelandic-American recovery team, including eight especially trained Icelandic mountain climbers.

Report Violations In Wage Payments To 5,052 Workers

Frank B. Mercurio, director of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage-Hour and Public Contracts Division, reported recently that a total of $638,443 is due 5,052 workers in the Ulster, Rockland, Putnam, Sullivan, Dutchess, Westchester, Bronx, and Orange Counties in the one year period ending June 30.

Mercurio said most of the violations were under the Fair Labor Standards Act better known as the Federal Wage-Hours Law. The breakdown is as follows: $107,681 were found due to 1410 workers because of minimum wage underpayments, $329,047 due to 3,634 workers who received less than the legal overtime pay and 1,715 due to 8 workers because of violations of the equal pay provisions. Of the 5,052 workers, 928 were due wages resulting from a combination of the violations. In addition, 91 minors were illegally employed. The Bronx WHPC field office, located at 881 Gerard Avenue, Bronx, is under the supervision of Abraham Klainbard.

Four Are Injured In Lloyd Mishap, Driver Is Cited

Four persons were injured and a motorist was cited for two vehicle and traffic violations after a two-car collision on Route 44-55 at the west approach to the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Highland.

Trooper Harry Foster said cars driven by George Tirrell, 31, of Highland, and Calvin Edwards, 23, of San Antonio, Texas, were involved in the mishap which occurred at 1:20 a. m. today.

Trooper Stanley Roberts of the Highland State Police detail cited Edwards for failure to keep to the right and driving a car with unsafe tires. The summonses are returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Lewis DiStasi, Town of Lloyd. Tirrell sustained contusions of the body. Trooper Foster said Edwards received lacerations of the face and chin. Doris Edwards, 21, of 49 E. Pierpont Street, suffered contusions of the body, and Mable Gatling, 20, of 60 Franklin Street, Kingston, sustained contusions of the left leg.

The injured were taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for treatment.

Troopers said Tirrell was approaching the bridge when Edwards reportedly made a wide swing on the curve and the vehicles collided.

Find Homemade Bomb In Auburn Refrigerator

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — A homemade bomb, found hidden in a refrigerator, has led to the arrest of an Auburn man who faces a charge of possession of a bomb, a felony.

Police in this city west of Syracuse found the device in an apartment near the downtown section Friday night after receiving an anonymous telephone call.

Chief John T. Costello said the bomb was an iron pipe stuffed with cotton and gun powder. It was dismantled by a demolition squad from the Seneca Army Ordnance Depot at nearby Romulus.

Shortly after, police arrested Edward W. Gallup of Auburn. He was sent to Cayuga County Jail pending arraignment Monday on the possession charge.

Costello declined to give any information about the arrest or the reason the bomb had been constructed.

The police chief said the bomb could have caused "considerable damage, although it was not fully loaded."

Dear Abby . . .

Social Security Did the Trick

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 47-year-old woman who has been married for nearly 30 years to a 56-year-old railroad man. We have nine grown children.

You may not believe this, but my husband has left me for a 62-year-old woman. Will you please tell me what this old lady could possibly offer him that I can't?

VERA

DEAR VERA: Social Security, maybe.

DEAR ABBY: I have never told anyone about my problem because I wouldn't want it known that it bothers me, but it does. I have been married for many years to a wonderful woman whose sisters have married very well. I have always made a fairly good living, but I am not in their class financially.

I have attended many family weddings, anniversary parties, and any number of elaborate family celebrations where professional photographers have been hired to take pictures of the guests. These pictures are later made into albums.

Well, from looking at these albums you would never know I was even there. Can it be "coincidence" that I am always excluded? Sign this, "The Little Man Who . . ."

DEAR MAN: Possibly. The best picture of family celebrations are usually "candid." And if the same people seem to show up in almost every picture, you can be sure they stuck their faces in every shot possible. It's to your credit that you did not.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I don't care if I ever see my 16th birthday. I am 5 ft. 9 and weigh 172 pounds.

I hate being taller than all the boys my age. Sure, people say, "Wait a few years, they'll grow." But what is a girl supposed to do in the meantime? I know I am overweight, but

Fish Signs Code, Bids Foes Follow

POUGHKEEPSIE — Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican candidate for Congress has announced he has signed the Code of Fair Campaign Practices, and called on his opponents to do the same.

The Code was drawn up by the Fair Campaign Practice Committee, the two living former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman — serve as honorary members of the Committee which is composed of officials of both political parties and other leading citizens.

The Republican Congressional candidate said "The issues today are far too sharply drawn, the difference between the political parties to great, to make necessary any personal vilification, character defamation, whisper campaign, libel, slander or scurrilous attack on any candidate or his personal family."

Any Republican candidate today should be able to win by pointing to the legitimate issues — the ever increasing cost of living, high interest rates, the mess in Viet Nam, the scandal surrounding the awarding of fat government contracts — via the Presidents' Club — the riots in our cities and the prevailing general contempt for law and order.

"We do not need to blacken the Democratic record. They do it themselves."

I urge my Democratic opponent to join in adhering to the policy of the Fair Campaign Committee so that the people of this district will be able to judge on the issues alone," Fish concluded.

'Shoddy Fakery'

Meanwhile, Fish today accused Democratic incumbent Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Elenville) of "shoddy political fakery" in an effort to "deceive volunteer firemen by falsely building up their hopes."

The Republican candidate was referring to a letter sent the governor by the Democratic incumbent asking that the New York State Police and other law enforcement agencies be ordered to permit volunteer fire companies to conduct games of chance for fund-raising purposes.

"The letter showed either total ignorance of the New York State law or is just another example of shoddy political fakery aimed at deceiving the volunteer firemen and falsely building up their hopes," Fish said.

Heads Rubber Workers

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Peter Bommartino of Detroit has been chosen president of the United Rubber Workers Union.

why should I diet? As long as I'm so tall that I haven't a chance with a boy, I might as well enjoy myself.

I am so mixed up and have made such a mess of myself. I wish I were dead. Is there any hope for me?

WISH I WERE DEAD

DEAR WISH: Anyone who asks, "Is there any hope for me?" knows deep down in his heart that there is. You possess two of the most precious things in the world. Youth and health. And you wish you were dead!

Tell your parents you want to see a doctor for a physical check-up and a sensible diet. Go, listen to him, and heed his advice. Once you shed those unsightly pounds and emerge from that hateful cocoon, you will like yourself better. And I promise you, you'll be well on the road to enjoying life and living it more fully.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "READY, WILLING AND ABLE." Many people gamble on horses. Why not gamble on people? For instance a man in your position could:

1. Offer employment to someone who has served a prison term;
2. Extend additional credit to someone who has suffered financial reverses;
3. Believe in a person even after he has told an untruth;

4. Be willing to forgive and forget after a bitter quarrel.
P. S. I am indebted to Rabbi Bernard S. Raskas for this priceless bit of wisdom.

Slate Assembly On Foreign Study At Oteora High

The Oteora Chapter of the American Field Service will hold an assembly at the Oteora High School on Monday, Sept. 19, at 2:30 p. m.

At this time, the Americans Abroad Committee will inform all juniors and seniors of the opportunity they have to be sent to a foreign country as an Americans Abroad student of American Field Service.

The main speaker for the assembly will be John Glowienka, from Red Hook School, who was an Americans Abroad student in Vienna, Austria, last year. He has had many memorable experiences and the committee is sure that a first-hand account of them will help Oteora students decide whether they are qualified to undertake such a challenging experience.

Mrs. Howard Hanks, Americans Abroad chairman, will give more details on specific requirements and describe the procedure the committee will use in selecting two candidates from Oteora High School. Mrs. Hanks particularly urges all parents of interested candidates to attend this assembly because their understanding and approval of all phases of the Americans Abroad program is essential.

Mrs. Ned Buoymaster, president of American Field Service, will introduce the two foreign students who are attending Oteora this year. They are Marie Claude Carrete, from Lyon, France, and Mauricio Florencio de Barros, from Santo Andre, Brazil.

Cost $100,000

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Supporters of Howard Samuels, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, have reported to the Department of State expenditures of more than $100,000 in Samuels' unsuccessful bid for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

The Samuels for Governor Committee reported that it was $23,412 in debt when the report was filed.

Backers of Gov. Rockefeller, who had no announced competition for renomination, reported pre-convention spending of $11,861.

An expenditure of $45,105 was listed for Frank D. O'Connor's successful campaign to obtain the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Spending on behalf of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination totaled $70,742. No expense was listed for the Liberal party nomination.

Meet Sebastian Cabot

A Gentleman's Gentleman

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Half of Sebastian Cabot was impeccably dressed as a gentleman's gentleman. Black coat, white shirt, tie. The other half was trouserless.

"How to keep cool," he grinned as he relaxed in the privacy of his air-conditioned trailer dressing room between scenes of a new CBS-TV series Family Affair, in which he co-stars with Brian Keith.

The decor of the trailer, however, was far from relaxing.

It was decorated with hand lettered signs. One on the bathroom door read, "You Won't Fit in Here." Another on a wall read, "Pay Your Agent." Another, pasted on a mirror, read, "You Are to Face Yourself."

There was still another thumbtacked to the ceiling directly above a couch. It read: "Pay Me."

"My agent and I, Cabot laughed, "are having a feud about some money he claims I owe him from a risidual check. But he's been my agent for 10 years and he claims all of his clients are incorrigible. Some day I may pay him the money."

Family Affair is bringing back the English accent London-born Cabot lost 11 years ago when he became Americanized in Hollywood movies and telefilms.

And it's a problem.

"But we decided this character I'm now playing should really be one of those frightfully by jove, by Gad Englishmen and I'm finding it difficult with certain words. But with three children in the cast I figure it's my only chance. I'm going to be saying 'Dinner is Served' so British the audience will HAVE to listen to understand me."

No, our man Cabot says he won't be getting pan mail from Arthur Treacher for stealing his gentleman's gentleman act.

"I'm playing it," he says, "as a combination of Clifton Webb, Eric Blore and myself. My only problem is trying to avoid being called a fatty Eric Blore with a beard."

The children — Anissa Jones, Johnnie Whitaker and Kathy Garver — play orphans adopted by rich bachelor Brian Keith who assigns his man-servant Cabot as their disdainfully reluctant "nanny."

As all actors are, Cabot is well aware of juvenile scene stealers. "Frankly," he says, "I do everything I can do but when those kids come on I quit."

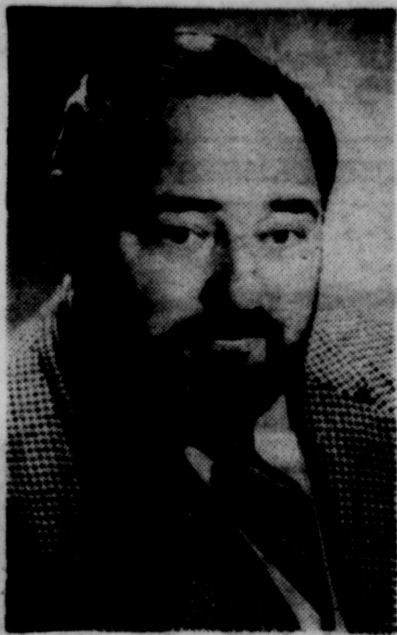

Checkmate, the TV series which put a star on Cabot's dressing room door, is still playing in the U. S. and around the world. The series has a high rating in Japan and about this Cabot tells a story involving the Japanese actor who dubbed his voice.

Shag to Shad

The reason Imogene Coca's character name in her new CBS-TV series, It's About Time, was switched from Shag to Shad is because the show has been sold in England, and the first name is not a nice word there. "It was too late to make the change in the pilot," Imogene told TV Scout. "So those who watch the first week will probably tell their friends to be sure and watch 'that dirty American show' the second week—and my name will be different."

Casey to Sing

Vincent Edwards, formerly Dr. Ben Casey, is a guest on Roger Miller's show of Sept. 26. He sings "Goin' Out of My Head" which prompted Roger to ad lib, "That's a heck of a song for a brain surgeon to sing."

SEBASTIAN CABOT

At a recent diplomatic reception he met a Japanese woman who had just arrived in this country. She was a Checkmate fan in Tokyo but, hearing Cabot speak in his own voice for the first time, brought a frown to her face.

Answering his perplexed look, she explained:

"So sorry, Mr. Cabot, but your voice in America not suit you."

Meet Richard Mulligan, NBC's New Hero

By BILL BYERS

NEW YORK — The National Broadcasting Company's latest hero is Richard Mulligan. His network has been wining and dining him across the country.

The actor, a lean-faced blond from the Bronx, who once studied for the priesthood, couldn't be more pleased. Neither could NBC-TV, his new boss, which finds him "refreshingly unspoiled."

Mulligan, of course, is the star of the new comedy series, The Hero, which spoofs comedy stars and modern living, not particularly in that order.

"Before the series I used to think America was somewhere out there beyond New Jersey," he said during a visit, as he pointed towards the Hudson River. "I've been pleasantly surprised on this tour to find people in Indianapolis aren't really any different from those in Manhattan."

He was also surprised to find Jack Anderson, television editor of the Miami Herald, asking him for an interview.

When Mulligan was a student, he was Anderson's copyboy.

Up until now, the actor had spent most of his adult years trying to become a Broadway star and suffering the usual disappointments. He rehearsed for "Never Too Late," only to be replaced by Orson Bean because the latter had a "name."

Nevertheless, Mulligan went on to win theatre awards for "Mating Dance" a comedy, and "Hogan's Goat" a poetic drama. He also eventually replaced Bean in "Never Too Late."

About his new series, his first, he is somewhat fearful that it will type-cast him as a "comedian" but figures he will just have to "wait it out."

"Of course I enjoy this new life," he gulped, rather shyly, "but when it's all over I still want to be remembered as a serious actor. I'm just going to be patient and see what happens."

Automatic Oil Heat
will enjoy
dependable comfort
this winter . . .

*and that includes the majority of prudent Hudson Valley homeowners

Forecast: Oil-heated homeowners will again be the luckiest—and the most comfortable—people this winter. For with Oil you've got more heating advantages working for you than with any other fuel. Safe fuel storage right on your own premises, for example, backed by millions of gallons of reserve supplies right here, not thousands of pipe

AND TALK ABOUT ECONOMY! OIL HEAT SAVES UP TO 66% OVER UTILITY HEATING FUELS —

Here's a down-to-earth, no-argument way to compare Oil Heat's low, low cost with a utility fuel: If you were to heat your home electrically, at prevailing rates of 1½¢ per KWH, for example, that would be equivalent, in terms of what you could spend for the same heat with oil, to 48.9¢ per gallon! But everyone knows that oil heat costs only about one-third of that.

or wire-line miles away.

Dozens of local, competitive dealers to choose from—every one interested in earning your favor. Economy, in fuel prices established by competition, rather than a one-source monopoly. No wonder dependable Oil Heat has always been the favorite among Hudson Valley homeowners!

'Star Trek,' NBC's Deep-Spacer, Has Universe of Plot Potential

By DON ROYAL
New York

Star Trek, NBC's hour-long venture into deep space, in color, airs Thursday evenings, 8:30-9:30 p. m. Eastern time.

Whether the Desilu production's plots for the science-fiction shows go into pedestrian orbit or take off for the stars remains to be viewed, but the prospect is intriguing. Based on projections of today's thinking by the experts, the series deals with the dramatic potential of occurrences in an era when man is able to voyage way beyond his present boundaries in space.

To insure a plausible blend of drama and fact, scientists from the world-famed Rand Corporation acted as consultants in planning, writing and filming Star Trek.

Focal point for the dramas is the U.S.S. Enterprise, a galaxy-traveling spacecraft. The "U.S.S." stands for "United Space Ship." Skipped by Capt. James Kirk, as played by William Shantner, is carries its compliment of several hundred men light-years out from our solar system.

In a manner of speaking, Shantner is no stranger to "star" travel. The young actor, an alumnus of the Canadian Repertory Theater in Ottawa and the Stratford, Ont., Shakespearean Festival, has worked with some first-magnitude earthly stars — among them, Sir Alec Guinness, James Mason, Anthony Quayle and Irene Worth.

Space travel is a fifth dimension for Shantner. Here on earth, he has acted in the "dimensions" of radio, stage, motion pictures and television.

The man with a role that's truly out of this world is Leonard Nimoy, as Mister Spock, second-in-command of the Enterprise. Spock is the child of an earth mother and a man from a far planet.

Nimoy, a graduate of the Pasadena Playhouse, has appeared in Dr. Kildare, The Outer Limits, and Profiles in Courage on television. His motion picture credits include roles in "Seven Days in May" and "The Balcony."

Others to be seen frequently: Grace Lee Whitney as Yeoman Janice Rand of the Enterprise crew, and De Forest Kelley as the ship's doctor, Dr. McCoy.

One old earth custom carried into interstellar space by Star Trek: There will be guest stars in abundance on the show.

GALAXY OF SPECIALS

One step beyond space ships, time tunnels and other, other-world adventures for astronomic speculation—the specials for the upcoming season.

As the new shows wear in, and the season wears on, the inevitable, perennial complaint will be: "There's nothing different to watch."

T'aint necessarily so. A modest estimate, which includes all types of specials, places the season figure at about 20. Other guesstimates range much higher, and include many daytime specials often overlooked in tabulations.

Name your own figure for this area of television, where change is the one constant which is observed.

First, of course, are the genuine "special" specials — the fast-breaking big stories on the news side of the video tube. How best they are handled, and by which net, will afford watchers in the hot-tube league hours of material for discussion, praise and recrimination all season.

Next to be considered, and they are not few in number, are the perennial specials — the beauty shows, the Oscar and Emmy and other awards programs, the spectaculars at Thanksgiving, Christmas and the New Year.

And then come those holiday repeats of well-watched shows. These approximate the beginnings of video folklore.

For examples: this Christmas-tide, ABC airs again "Little Red Riding Hood," CBS repeats "The Nutcracker" and "Charlie Brown's Christmas." NBC re-air "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" and "Mr. Magoo's Christmas Carol."

The folklore bit spills over into the new year, too, with CBS repeating "Cinderella" in January, "Wizard of Oz" in February. ABC will repeat "Alice in Wonderland" (date to be announced).

To try and list the new snows in this space would be to court utter confusion. Each net has its measure of prestige shows coming up. Sponsors of the past season will be back with household word specials, and the mere names of the sponsors, or the series, provide instant indication of the caliber of the shows to be presented.

You'll be able to dial deepdish drama or the lightest froth. While there'll be, numerically, a special at least 2 out of every 3 days, they'll often come in bunches, like bananas.

Your best guides to this visual smorgastord are the daily and weekly entertainment pages of this paper.

Good hunting, clear reception and much enjoyment to you in tracking down the special offerings. They often prove to be something truly special!

Donovan Director

Imogene's husband, actor King Donovan, who has turned to directing, is doing several episodes of Dakarti this season.

PREPARATION is the key to what Charles Robinson hopes will be a heady rise to film stardom. He's a Princeton honor grad, speaks four languages, is an expert swimmer, plays three musical instruments and served his theater apprenticeship on Broadway. His next movie role is in "The Sand Pebbles."

TV's Gunsmoke To Be in Color Tonight's Show

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Color-set viewers will be able to recognize for the first time tonight that Matt Dillon's eyes are deep blue and Kitty's hair is orange-red.

The beginning of the 12th season of "Gunsmoke" brings the CBS Western to the home screen in color for the first time. But viewers won't be seeing any splashes of charreuse and fuchsia, or any other bright colors, for that matter. That's the dictum of Philip Leacock, who has been guiding the destiny of the long-run series.

Says the producer: "When it was announced that we were going to color, some of the people on the show said we could now repaint all the sets brilliant colors, put bright green curtains in the Long Branch saloon and new dresses on the girls. I said no."

"Oh, maybe the Long Branch is a bit brighter, but otherwise Dodge City will look pretty much the same. It would be easy to lose the dusty atmosphere on the town by going wild on color. But we'd also be destroying the essential quality of the show."

Leacock is a jealous guardian of "Gunsmoke's" success, and his stars now appreciate his efforts. That wasn't always true.

When he took over the show three years ago, the performers eyed him with suspicion.

Eyed Presumption

After all, what right had he, an Englishman, to assume command on a basically American saga?

"We had some clashes at first," admitted Leacock, discussing his relationships with James Arness, Amanda Blake and Milburn Stone. "These people care so much about the show and their characters that they are suspicious of anyone who might want to tamper with them. I had to prove to them that I cared just as much as they did."

How much longer can "Gunsmoke" last?

"That's entirely up to the actors," Leacock remarked. "It can probably continue as long as they are willing to stay."

TV Questions & Answers

STILL A LONGHAIR—I heard that Peter Noone, leader of Herman's Hermits got married and had his hair cut. — Hermit Fan, Tolono, Ill.

TV Scout saw the young singer the other day and he was still shaggy and single. John Lennon of The Beatles, however, recently cut his locks for a movie role.

TRACK RECORD — On what other series has Robert Culp of I Spy been a regular? — Mrs. D. Heaton, St. Paul, Minn.

Trackdown.

FADE OUT — Is Carol Burnett's Broadway musical, "Fade Out, Fade In," still running? — O. C., Phoenix, Ariz.

No. It closed a couple of seasons ago.

MARRIED MAN — Who is John Gary's wife? Do they have any children? — A. F. Ruberto, West St. Paul, Minn.

The singer's spouse is the former Lois McDonnell. Their children by previous marriages are John Jr., 9; Leslie, 8; Robert 6, and Marcella, 4.

LAWYER'S FILE — Tell me about James Douglas of Peyton Place. — K. L., Savannah, Ga.

The actor who plays Stephen Cord on the ABC-TV series is a native of Los Angeles, the son of former actor Stan Johnson, who is now an art director at 20th Century Fox. Douglas' first film was "Designing Woman." Later he had featured roles in "GI Blues," and "Thunder of Drums." He and his wife, the former Dawn Busby, have been married 15 years. Their children are Kim, 12; Taryn, 11, and Cort, 3. The Douglas family lives in the San Fernando Valley.

MOVIES NEXT? — Do you think the cool Luke Halpin has any plans of going into the movies? — B. C., Miami, Fla.

Yes. He has already made two films, "Flipper" and "Flipper's New Adventure." The first one was inspiration for the NBC-TV series by the same name in which Luke plays the part of Sandy. Previously, he acted on Broadway and appeared in several dramatic television productions.

As a former Canadian I'm incensed by your remark that Parisians wouldn't think Pierre Jalbert of Combat speaks perfect French. — Mrs. Laure Engel, Minneapolis, Minn.

We didn't mean to insult you only to rib Parisians who think nobody but natives can speak their language. Jalbert French is excellent. The actor studied at Quebec's Laval University and Sorbonne in Paris.

Is there such a town as Gotham City on Batman? — Violet M. Willie, Norfolk, Va.

No. But many people think Gotham is really New York. Both are plagued by crime, blackouts, water shortages, subway strikes and characters as interesting as The Joker, The Riddler and The Penguin.

Want James Bond Series Resumed, Sean Reluctant

By BOB THOMAS
wap movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Whither James Bond? The world's No. 1 secret agent is likely to continue his cinema strife with Smersh even though Sean Connery intends to turn in his Beretta pistol.

That's the report from the improbably named Cubby Broccoli, who should know. Together with Harry Saltzman, he produces the fantastically successful Bond sagas, and it's not likely that they or United Artists will kill their golden sleuth.

Hard to Convince

Broccoli (real first name: Albert) is a rotund New Yorker who worked in and around the movie business here but couldn't convince anyone he could produce movies. He had to go to England to prove it! And is Warwick Productions pioneered American filming in Europe.

But Broccoli didn't come into full flower until he combined with Saltzman to produce "Dr. No" with a little-known Scottish actor. United Artists, concerned about the investment, trimmed his budget to under a million dollars.

The producer has now just returned from Japan, where he oversaw locations for the fifth Bond film, "You Only Live Twice," which will cost a shade under $8 million.

"I don't think United Artists is worried about the cost," understated Broccoli, who calculates that the first four films have collected $150 million.

Connery Reluctant

Continuance of the series has been questioned because of the intransigence of the star. Connery has expressed concern that Bond will overwhelm his acting career and render him incapable to portraying anything else.

"I don't think Sean is unhappy now," said Broccoli, adding with a rueful grin, "At least he hasn't been issuing any statements about the 'fat producers.'"

"He was very cooperative on the Japan location, and I think part of his contentment is because this is his last Bond picture for us. Or at least that is what he says. Well, if he is tired of playing Bond, it's his privilege to make this his last one. Maybe it's my last one, too."

Can the last statement be taken seriously? Broccoli mused that it might not be a bad idea to quit at the top, "like Rocky Marciano." But box-office champions don't retire and its probable that Broccoli-Saltzman will continue running through the remainder of the Ian Fleming novels.

"If Sean does quit and we continue the series," said Broccoli, "we would get another unknown. That is the essence of the films' success — that the actor assumed the identity of James Bond. After all, Batman is Batman, not a well-known actor assuming the role."

With or without Connery, the producer is confident that James Bond will continue to occupy the world's fancy.

Ask TV Scout

Will there be a new Western series this season called The Prisoner? — P. M., Hartford, Conn.

No. The new oaters are The Iron Horse, starring Dale Robertson and Gary Collins; The Road West, with Barry Sullivan and Glenn Corbett; The Rounders, with Ron Hayes, Patrick Wayne and Chill Wills; Shane, with David Carradine; Pistols 'n' Petticoats with Ann Sheridan and The Monroes with Michael Anderson Jr.

Yes. Every uncurled mangled strand belongs to the comedienne. However, in her new comedy series in which she plays a society matron (The Pruitts of Southampton on ABC-TV) her hair is neatly coiffed.
